65 Feared Dead in Airliner Crash in East River

SEC. DULLES IN LONDON FOR TALKS

LONDON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew in from Washington today for talks with Allied leaders on Western policy in Germany and elsewhere in Europe.

"I have brought no new proposals," he told reporters at the airport.

"I have come here because I suspect that in coming weeks we will be forced to take difficult decisions pressed on us by the Soviet Union.

"It is vital that the Western nations should understand each other."

After two days of consultations in London, Dulles plans to go on to Paris and Bonn.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd welcomed Dulles at the airport.

Dulles planned to have a quick talk with U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, the supreme commander of North Atlantic Alliance forces in Europe, and then meet with Lloyd and Prime Minister Macmillan.

British opinion favors a change in the Western approach which would offer a demonstration of Allied flexibility. There is a strong feeling here that any new Allied proposal to unite Germany will stand a better chance of breaking the East-West deadlock than the often rejected demand for free all-German elections.

Leaving Washington Tuesday, Dulles told newsmen he hoped to make some progress in arranging a Big Four meeting with Russia on Germany.

The secretary spoke with reporters after conferring with President Eisenhower at the White House. He gave the impression he has in mind a conference sometime between April 24, when the Atlantic Pact powers meet in Washington, and May 27, the deadline set by the Soviet Union for handing the East German Communists control of Allied supply lines to West Berlin.

Major Battle on Housing Bills Is Taking Shape

WASHINGTON (AP)—The year's first floor fight affecting President Eisenhower's budget opens in the Senate today on a $2,925,000,000 Democratic omnibus housing bill.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.), author of the measure, told a reporter he was sure he had the votes to hold the measure largely intact. He predicted Eisenhower would sign it.

But Republican leaders, after talking with the President Tuesday, said Eisenhower was quite unhappy about provisions of the measure which would far exceed his budget. They said the possibility of a veto was not discussed but they promised to try to cut the bill closer to administration figures.

On the other side, Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) has pledged a floor fight in an effort to increase the size of some of the programs.

Sparkman's bill is quite similar to one which passed the Senate last year but died in the House in the face of administration opposition. It compares to a $1,650,000,000 proposal of the President this year.

FATAL NEAR BUTLER

Mr. McAlister said that 70 local merchants are cooperating in the big community-wide event which is annually one of the most exciting and rewarding promotions of the year. Readers are urged to see tomorrow night's Times-Mirror which will contain a special section devoted to advertising from the participating merchants. The sale starts at 9:30 Friday morning and continues through Saturday at 5 p. m.

President Tells Press He Will Oppose High Spending

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today called on Congress to provide for higher taxes in every spending bill which would unbalance his 77-billion-dollar budget.

Eisenhower told a news conference he is sure the public does not want tax increases, deficit spending and cheapened dollars—and would stand against excessive spending if the cost thus was made clear in spending bills.

In obvious warning that he plans through appeals to the public to bat down—if he can—every high-spending proposal that Congress brings, Eisenhower said grimly: "He means this and he will say it often."

His attack was aimed chiefly at a pending three-billion-dollar housing bill and at Democratic proposals for federal airport spending.

The housing measure is $1,300,000,000 above Eisenhower's budget request, and the Democratic airport aid proposal is 575 million dollars by comparison with 200 million asked by the President.

Eisenhower touched on these other matters in the course of the news conference:

INTEGRATION—He applauded Virginia officials and citizens for this week's reopening of public schools in Norfolk and Arlington County with Negro and white children studying together for the first time in the state's history.

This, said the President, may be taken as evidence that Americans are beginning to understand they must have consideration for their fellowmen if democracy is to work.

BERLIN—This government has protested to Moscow over the Soviet halting of an American truck convoy from Berlin near the East German border.

The United States regards this act as a violation of explicit or implied agreements among the four powers occupying Berlin, Eisenhower said.

MISSILES—The claims by Soviet Defense Minister R. Y. Malinovsky that the West lacks the missiles to destroy the West's Pacific coast.

The fresh outbreak of arctic air moved southward into North Dakota and Minnesota and seeped into parts of Iowa. Temperatures again dropped below zero in northern Minnesota, with a low of 16 degrees below at International Falls, Minn.

MOORHEAD, Minn. (AP)—A group of young entertainers, saddened by the deaths of three singing stars of their troupe who were killed in a plane crash, staged a rock 'n' roll show Tuesday night to the delight of more than 2,000 screaming, whistling teen-agers.

The three recording stars were killed early Tuesday when their four-place chartered plane crashed in a snow-covered farm field near Mason City, Iowa. They had just completed an engagement in Clear Lake, Iowa, and were headed for Fargo, N.D. Others in the troupe took a chartered bus.

Dead in the crash were singers Buddy Holly, 22, of Lubbock, Tex.; Ritchie Valens, 17, of Los Angeles; and Jiles P. (Big Boy) Richardson, 28, of Beaumont, Tex., and the pilot, Roger Peterson, 21, of Clear Lake.

CONVOY IS STILL HELD BY SOVIETS

BULLETIN

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP)—The Russians tonight released a convoy of four American trucks which they had held on the route between Berlin and West Germany since Monday.

By ROLF STEINBERG

HELMSTEDT, West Germany (AP)—An American and a Soviet army officer conferred at this frontier post today in an apparent effort to settle the dispute that has stranded an American military convoy inside satellite East Germany for two days.

The unidentified Soviet officer and an interpreter walked across the West German border for a 10-minute conference with the U.S. Military Police captain in charge of the American border checkpoint.

The Soviet officer then returned to the Soviet post opposite at Marienborn.

The four-truck convoy remained parked at Marienborn, within sight of the free West.

In temperature several degrees below freezing, five American soldiers spent a second uncomfortable night wrapped in blankets in four trucks parked alongside the autobahn. They had been stranded there since early Monday afternoon.

At daylight an officer from the U.S. Army detachment at Helmstedt walked the 200 yards to the men in Communist East Germany and took them hot coffee and breakfast.

U.S. military authorities considered the convoy stoppage the gravest incident since Moscow began its drive last November to oust the Western powers from West Berlin.

McElroy Says U.S. Is Catching Up In Missile Race

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Any intercontinental missile gap between the Soviet Union and the United States won't be bigger than one or two effective weapons by year's end, Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy said today.

McElroy, elaborating on his testimony Tuesday before the House Armed Services Committee said he was talking in terms of missiles "deliverable on target."

The United States will have a number of missiles ready on their launching pads by December, he told reporters. It is assumed the Soviet Union will, too. But, the secretary went on, "No one believes there will be 100 missiles able to go the full way."

"We discount ours the same way we do theirs" for potential misfires and strays, he said, and on this basis, there will be no practical difference by the end of the year. "No more than one or two missiles, based on our judgment of accuracy and reliability."

McElroy told the representatives that taking into account all the varied means the United States commands for delivering a lethal punch, it is sure enough of victory to discourage any opponent from starting a war.

Musmanno Advised He Can't Interfere in Cuba

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The secretary-general of the United Nations has told Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court that he cannot interfere with the Cuban executions.

Dag Hammarskjöld told Musmanno in a letter Tuesday that such matters should be taken up by private citizens and presented to the U.N. through appropriate government agencies.

Justice Musmanno had written Hammarskjöld that the Cuban executions lacked safeguards of due process of the law.

Musmanno said he will carry the issue to Francis Wilcox, assistant secretary of state for international organizations in the U.N.

PLATE GLASS STRIKE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Negotiations enter a "crucial stage" today in the prolonged strike against the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co.

Some 13,000 employees have been on strike at nine plants in a walk-out that began last Oct. 6.

DIES AFTER CRASH

SAXONBURG, Pa. (AP)—James H. Hay, 75, of Valencia R.D., fell dead Tuesday night after his car ran off a road 4 miles west of Saxonburg and struck a tree stump. Hay turned off the ignition and collapsed after getting out of the auto. An autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of death.

Civil Rights Bill Subject of White House Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) said today that unless President Eisenhower recommends federal action in the whole field of civil rights, he will move to expand the administration program.

Eisenhower is expected to send to Congress in the next 10 days proposals aimed at greater protection of minority voting rights and at curbing disorders in school integration cases.

As outlined at a White House conference of GOP legislative leaders Tuesday, however, the program would not include broad authority for the attorney general to seek injunctions against all types of civil rights violations.

Such authority was asked by Eisenhower in 1957, but the Senate out the provision from the civil rights bill Congress passed that year.

"If the President doesn't recommend this authority, I certainly shall offer an amendment to include it in the program," Javits said. "We should move forward boldly in this field."

However, Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California, the assistant Republican leader, said that from what he heard at Tuesday's conference he believes Eisenhower will shape up a satisfactory program that has a good chance of being passed by Congress. Kuchel has been a consistent advocate of strong civil rights action.

Survivor of Cave-in Tells Harrowing Tale

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The lone survivor of a ditch cave-in which killed two others says he could think of nothing but "God and my family" while he was trapped.

Guilo Colasante, 40, suffering a possible fractured left shoulder and ribs, said after his rescue yesterday:

"It was cold and the air began to go bad. I was in pain. My shoulder hurt terribly. I kept praying and after awhile, I just knew they would get me out. So I quit worrying. I just said, well, if you have to go, you have to go."

Colasante was one of three men working in a 20-foot deep trench at a warehouse on Pittsburgh's south side when a retaining wall suddenly collapsed. Tons of dirt and debris cascaded upon them.

Steel Strike During Summer Is Possibility

WASHINGTON (AP)—A crippling steel strike in the summer? Right now, government officials just don't know.

In private or in public, they give only vague forecasts.

"It's still too early to tell what will happen," says Joseph Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Three-year contracts between the United Steelworkers Union and steel producers end June 30.

Voters To Decide If State Legislature Will Meet Each Year Instead of Bi-Annually

HARRISBURG (AP)—Clear sailing was pledged by both Republicans and Democrats today for a plan to give voters the right to decide if the Legislature should meet annually instead of every two years.

"The bill is ready to roll," commented Rep. Stephen McCann, Democratic floor leader.

His GOP counterpart, Rep. Albert W. Johnson, predicted the proposed constitutional amendment on annual session would be passed in the House next week and sent to the Senate.

The House Rules Committee sent the measure to the floor Tuesday. The action followed through on approval given the same constitutional amendment in the 1957 session.

A Constitutional amendment requires approval at two separate sessions of the Legislature and, in a statewide referendum. This year, the referendum would come as part of the Nov. 3 municipal election.

If adopted, the amendment would provide that the next session of the Legislature convene next Jan. 5. A section, however, limits law-making in even-numbered years to revenue and appropriation bills only.

Both the Republican and Democratic platforms endorsed annual sessions on the theory that budget predictions for two years in advance are too

JC's Decide on Community Poll to Settle Question of Fourth of July Celebration

Each year at this time the Warren Jaycees examine the advisability of continuing the 4th of July Celebration which has become such a fixture of the mid-summer season. The celebration, a popular event in Warren for the past ten years, necessarily involves much annual study and planning not only because of its magnitude but because of the drain on the resources and manpower of the local chapter.

While the main purpose of the 4th of July has always been to provide the area with two or three days of entertainment, a subsidiary purpose has been the realization of enough income by the Jaycees to run their many community projects throughout the year. The chapter has for many years maintained a schedule of almost 70 projects a year, the majority of which have been and will continue to be at no charge to the community. Each of these requires some financial outlay on the part of the Jaycees, and it has been necessary to plan on the income from the 4th of July to underwrite the cost of, and potential loss from, these myriad projects.

In the last three or four years, there has been little doubt that the celebration has declined to manpower involved but as a source of income as opposed to manpower involved. While the same high quality celebration has been maintained, the net income has decreased to the point where it now becomes questionable whether the celebration should be held in 1959.

The 4th of July Committee has recommended to the local chapter that they lay the facts before the public, and allow them to decide whether or not the celebration should be held. With this in mind, a public opinion poll will be conducted through local news media wherein readers and listeners will be given the opportunity to express their views. Should there be a 4th of July Celebration? If so, what form should it take? These are the basic questions which will be asked during the two weeks that the poll will be run.

Following their canvass, the ladies reported to the fire hall, where they were served coffee by Mrs. Perry Wilcox.

Mrs. Wendell Warner was honored at a stork shower at the home of Mrs. Neil Scott, with Mrs. Clifford Storms, Mrs. Walter Warner and Ruth Anne Scott as assisting hostesses. Games were enjoyed, prizes awarded, and refreshments served. The 22 guests were from Panama, Ashville, Watts Flats, and Friendship, N. Y., also from Sugar Grove.

Mrs. R. E. Seamens, Greensburg, was called here Monday evening by the serious illness of her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. A. McIntosh, in WCA Hospital in Jamestown.

Recent luncheon guests of Mrs. Neil Scott were Mrs. Hatte Tower and Mrs. Carl Tower, Warren RD; Mrs. Ralph AEBcock, Lander. Saturday night dinner guests at the Scott home were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Anisman, Jamestown.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Stuart, Sr., were Mr. and Mrs. Fulton McKee, Jamestown, and their daughter, Cynthia, a senior at Penn State University, with her friend, Sara Fish, Philadelphia.

The February Well Baby Clinic has been cancelled, the next to be March 11.

Mother Serving Life Term Seeks New Trial

EBENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Cambria County Court is considering a plea for a new trial for an Alcoa, Ohio, waitress serving a life sentence in the death of her son.

Defense Atty. Donald J. Perry argued Tuesday Mrs. Eleanor A. Conklin was not advised of her full constitutional rights before giving a statement to police when she was arrested.

Mrs. Conklin was charged with smothering her 3-year-old son, Gary, in a motel at nearby Crescon last Aug. 8. She was convicted in December.

Perry also claims Mrs. Conklin was under the influence of sleep-inducing drugs when her son was killed. He said the verdict of the jury was contrary to the evidence presented.

Wanna go on a tiger hunt?
That may seem a funny way to propose, but young, blonde and breathless Claudia Watson says that's the way her husband, Wid, did it. And now, just after their first wedding anniversary, they're off to the private game preserves of the Maharajah of Cooch-Bihar, with 16 guests, to shoot tigers in the jungles of India.

"No, I never shot a tiger before," says the fragile and strictly glamorous Claudia, "but what girl could resist such a proposal? What red-blooded American girl, that is?"

"We'll shoot from the backs of the Maharajah's elephants," explains her startlingly handsome husband, who is 23 years old, 6 feet 4 in his stocking feet, with curly yellow hair and all the poise of a prime minister. "We'll have 150 beaters to drive the tigers up within range. We'll have native guides, and each couple on the South's three no-trump contract was based on a minimum 12-point opening bid by North. West opened the jack of spades and South saw that his contract was practically hopeless. Also, there was nothing much he could do to make it but East and West got together to make it for him.

East played the seven of spades. He wasn't going to waste his queen on his partner's jack. South ducked, letting the jack hold. West continued with the ten, and this time East had to play his queen. South also allowed this to hold and East found that he was in the lead with no spades left in his hand.

He led the jack of diamonds. South won with the ace, led a low heart and played the eight from dummy. East was in with the jack and still had no spade to lead. This gave South time to knock out the ace of clubs also and make his contract.

How did West help declarer? He could have led his king of spades at trick two. This would have kept him in the lead and allowed him to clear the spade suit himself while he still held the ace of clubs.

safari will have two native servants. We'll use guns from the Maharajah's private armory."

How do you get that way at 23? Well, young Wid has been a world traveler since birth. He is the son of William Watson of Nelson, New Zealand, discoverer of the Belora gold mines in New Guinea and former Australian vice consul in New York. The Watson family maintains homes in Italy, Germany, Australia, New Zealand, New Guinea and New York. At 15 Wid ran away from a private school in Pennsylvania and took off for Barbados, where he chartered a sailboat, acted as fishing guide for vacationing sportsmen for a season, then left for South America and has been traveling ever since.

Claudia, a former teen-age TV

actress, met Wid last summer in Spain. They were married a few weeks later in a civil ceremony in New York, then flew to Paris on their honeymoon. They repeated the marriage ceremony in a favorite church in Switzerland and set out on a leisurely tour of the Alps and France.

The young Watsons plan to leave San Francisco March 15 with their party, flying to Tokyo, Hong Kong and Calcutta, where they will spend two weeks on the tiger shoot. Then they will fly to Cairo, sail across the Mediterranean to Rome for the Easter season, have a final fling at their Castle Oranmore in Ireland, then back to New York.

"My theory," said Wid, "is that any business ought to be fun. If it isn't fun, the heck with it."

News of Hollywood

Editor's Note:
There's been a revolution in popular music since the rise of Elvis Presley. Today the teen-ager is king—chief listener, buyer, maker of stars. The switch from jazz and swing to rock 'n' roll baffles adult music leaders—but they're making more money than ever by catering to teen tastes. To report on the revolution, AP columnist Bob Thomas talked to figures at all levels of the music world. Following is the FIRST of five columns on what he learned.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Among the five best-selling records in the nation today are:

"Sixteen Candles" by the Crests. "Slagger Lee" by Lloyd Price. "Donna" by Ritchie Valens. Ever hear them? The chances are no, if you are of voting age and spend little time near radios and juke boxes. But if you're a teen-ager, you doubtless dig these discs the most.

This is offered as evidence of how the folkways of America have changed. There was a time when a song hit was on everyone's lips. The young and the old would be singing "Yes, We Have No Bananas" or "Who's Afraid of the Big, Bad Wolf" or "Fraise The Lord and Pass the Ammunition." That situation no longer exists. The popular music field is now dominated — some say monopolized — by a single age group, the teenagers.

"It's the craziest market I've ever seen," says Glenn Wallichs, founder and headman of Capitol Records.

"The kids are running the show," adds Randy Wood, who built Dot records into an industry.

A whole new crop of performers and song writers has taken over. It is virtually impossible for the veteran pop singers — the Frankie Laines, Dinah Shores, Jo Stafford — to get a hit record. Typical of the new stars is lean, tousle-haired Jimmy Rodgers, a Washington State boy who lived on candy bars and soft drinks in New York City while trying to break in as a singer. Then he recorded "Honeycomb," a million seller. Now Jimmy's earning $200,000 a year.

"It's tough for any girl singer these days," says Wood, mentor of Pat Boone's career. "Teen-age girls buy most of the single records and they seem to want a secret love affair with their favorite singer. Because of this, the publicity about Pat's family life has hurt his single sales, though he's getting a broader audience all the time."

Likewise, the longtime writers of great American songs scarcely get a look-in on the current pop market. The tunes of Irving Berlin, Cole Porter and Richard Rodgers are neglected for such members as "Whole Lotta Lovin'" and "I Got Stung."

Whence came this power of teen-agers to impose their musical tastes on the entire population? Says a psychologist: "Every generation has the urge to discover and enshrine its own heroes and entertainments. This is especially true of today's teen-agers, who were born into and reared in the wartime era of lax family controls. They are seeking a break with the past."

Lincoln Vignettes --- (1)

Abraham Lincoln, commander in chief of the greatest army in the world, liked to tell a story about himself that helped him keep his perspective as a human being.

As captain of a company during the Black Hawk War in 1832, Lincoln was leading his men in a line across a field. They came to a fence with a narrow gate. He couldn't remember the proper command for getting his men "endwise," Lincoln recalled. So he ordered:

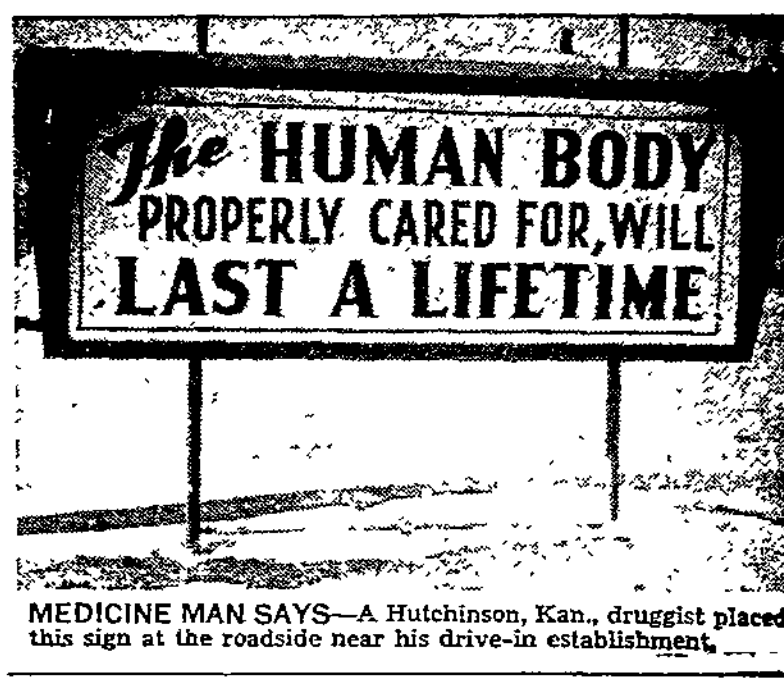

"This company is dismissed for two minutes—when it will fall in again on the other side of the gate."

Youngsville Club Collects $372.76 In Polio Canvass

YOUNGVILLE—Mrs. Lauffenberger reports for the Pre-School Mothers' Club that members collected $372.76 in their Mothers' March on Polio, 32 workers participating in the canvass and meeting afterward in the high school cafeteria for cookies and coffee served by a committee comprised of Jean Young, Gladys Lindsay and Ruth Miller. Dr. Peters was present to give the mothers an impressive talk on the merits of fluoridation for Youngsville water supply, especially the effects on children under 14 years of age.

Second meeting of the chapter of "Little Women," organized last week at the home of Barbara Hill, will be held this evening in the Methodist church basement. Members will review briefly the purpose and history of "TOPS," a national non-profit organization which stands for "Take Off Pounds Sensibly." The group has asked Mrs. Hill to continue as temporary leader and she will be glad to answer queries for anyone calling her at Logan 3-9943.

There is considerable local interest in the Thursday meeting of Warren County Pomona Grange at Warren Grange Hall. Mrs. Evelyn Overlurf, of Youngsville, who is home economist for Penelec in Warren, will be guest speaker for the Home Economics Hour in charge of Chairman Lucille Johnson; Lawrence Miller, of Columbus, Pomona legislative liaison of the state legislative program for the evening session. Several other guest speakers are to be heard and a large number of local members are planning to attend the all-day sessions.

RADIO and TV

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the favorite TV dramatic themes this season seems to be the one about the pure young eastern idealist who goes to Hollywood and —bingo!— love of money's got him. The hero's wife abhors that life out yonder and leaves him to blondes, booze and a berserk ending.

Personally, I have no idea how brightly burns the flame of truth under all this dramatic smoke. But the other day I was interested while talking with a candid young actor to learn his views on the differences between life in New York and Hollywood.

His name is Robert Loggia and he stars in "The Nine Lives of Elfreida Baca" dramatizations on "Walt Disney Presents" (ABC-TV, Fridays, 8 p.m., EST).

Born and raised on Staten Island, N.Y., he was a happy school athlete who never thought of becoming an actor. He wanted to be a newspaper man and took his degree in journalism at the University of Missouri.

After graduation and army service he was wandering around New York looking for work when a friend got him a five-line acting job on a TV show starring Hume Cronyn. Cronyn told him that he had talent and urged him to study acting at Stella Adler's school.

Loggia fell in love with a girl who was studying at Miss Adler's and they were married. Lean days followed. Acting jobs were scarce, but they were happy living and working in New York.

Loggia's roles improved and he finally got his big break starring in Tennessee Williams' "Orpheus Descending." In its Philadelphia trial previous to its Broadway flop, Loggia suddenly was bounced over the protest of the entire cast.

But out in Hollywood Walt Disney felt that Loggia was perfect for the role of Baca. So Loggia and his wife moved to the West Coast.

"I want to make this clear," Loggia said. "I enjoy working for Disney. I like my role and the way I'm treated. The work is fine. And so is the life. That's what worries me. I like the life out there too well."

"That is, I like it while I'm there. But now that we've come back to New York for a few weeks I don't think that I like living out there so much. Money doesn't seem so important now. I feel I've got my perspective again."

"But I'm going back knowing you can become addicted to things like swimming pools and sports cars. There's only one thing wrong with that: It isn't good for your craft."

Pioneer Flier Dies In Traffic Accident

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Jack Frye, 54, pioneer flier who helped build one of the world's largest air transport firms, died in a traffic accident Tuesday night.

A pilot with a flying record of 7,000 hours, Frye died when his car smashed into the side of a car that pulled into the road in front of him.

Sheriff's deputies said the impact hurled his body 40 feet. The other driver, identified as Rosabel M. Wright, 42, Tucson, escaped with minor injuries.

Frye was president of Standard Airlines of Los Angeles in 1927 when the firm pioneered airline service to the East. He also was a pilot for the company and flew the first commercial airliners in to Phoenix and Tucson.

Accidents in which five or more persons were killed caused nearly 1,000 deaths in the United States in 1958.

TIMELY NEWS FOR VETERANS

Veterans holding GI insurance who are also recipients of pension or compensation can save money and time by having their GI insurance premiums deducted from their monthly pension or compensation checks.

Alvin Guyler, Manager of the VA regional office in Pittsburgh pointed out that veterans who arrange to have their monthly insurance premiums deducted in this manner not only save postage, money order costs and sundry expense items but also avoid the possibility of a lapse in their insurance. It is impossible to "forget" to pay an insurance premium if deductions for premiums are authorized beforehand.

Mr. Guyler urged veterans with questions on any phase of their insurance program to contact the nearest VA contact representative or write to the VA District Office administering the policy, giving the policy numbers.

Cub Pack No. 2 Making Plans for Blue-Gold Dinner

Den 4 led the opening ceremony for the monthly meeting of Cub Pack 2 of Jefferson School, directed by Cubmaster Jack Logan and held in the school auditorium.

An entertaining skit, "A Newsman's Nightmare," was presented by Den 6, in charge of its den mothers, Mrs. Curtis Goodwin and Mrs. Joseph Casey. John Thompson, Michael Casey, Ronald Giosch and Craig Goodwin were the newsmen.

"A News Broadcast From Station W-CUB" was a skit written and presented by Den 2 with den mothers, Mrs. Franz Reiff and Mrs. F. Marietta in charge; Timmy Passaro, Rock Logan, Marc Segel, Jim Nelson, Richard Marietta and Danny Reiff as reporters.

Announcement was made of the Pack 2 Blue and Gold dinner to be held February 24 in First Methodist church; a letter was read concerning the correct way to wear a neckerchief. Den 7 won the attendance award. The awards chairman, Phillip Smith, announced Dens 2 and 7 each had earned 17 awards for the month and Cubmaster Logan invited both groups to have dinner with him in recognition of their fine work.

Presentation of awards followed:

WHAT ABOUT THE FOURTH?

Elsewhere in this issue appears a coupon entitled "Jaycees' Fourth of July Celebration Poll," intended to aid the Warren Chapter to reach a decision in regards to plans for the local observance this year.

The coupon lists a few of the many events that can be presented on Independence day, and readers are cordially invited to express their preference. The questionnaire also provides space for expressing a preference for programs not already staged or suggested.

The committee in charge has recommended to the Chapter that they lay the facts before the public in this manner, and permit interested citizens to help decide whether or not a celebration will be held this summer, along lines similar to those that have been witnessed during the past ten years. It is interesting to note that the net income from the celebration has been running below expenditures the past few seasons—the Chapter sustaining a loss of about $600 in 1957, and almost the same amount last year.

Mark your coupon and mail it to Jaycees, P. O. Box 147, Warren, Pennsylvania, or deposit it in a ballot box located in downtown Warren. Signatures will not be required, but the committee reminds they would be most helpful.

ERICK MUNSON

The fast-thinning ranks of veterans of the Mexican Border incident and World War I was further shortened Tuesday afternoon when Lieut. Erick S. Munson was found dead in bed in his home at 309 Onondago avenue. A heart ailment for which he had been under treatment since his 77th birthday January 6, was given as the cause.

Besides a record of distinguished service as an officer with Company I Lieut. Munson will be remembered for his contribution to civic, fraternal and sports activities during a long life spent mostly in Warren. Sports Boosters, High School athletics and community activities of all types benefited through his generosity and willingness to serve. His congenial personality will be missed, not only in his home, but especially at the Veterans of Foreign Wars where he has been active since it was chartered as well as the recently-formed Veterans of the 28th Division.

WORLD TODAY
By James Marlow

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Americans and Soviet citizens—so long as there is no war—have the luxury of arguing without immediate danger of having to prove their rival claims to progress in the field of intercontinental missiles.

The Soviets have made the biggest claims, that they have ICBMs in mass production—if that's what Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev meant when he said "series" production—and have made them accurate enough to pinpoint them on a target.

But it would all be a nightmare argument if war came anytime soon.

For instance, the only way Americans could tell whether the Soviets were speaking truly would be to wait to see if a flock of ICBMs not only landed here but landed on the button.

The argument gets a little cloudy because of what seems to be—although maybe it isn't—contradictions in testimony before congressional committees by Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy.

On Jan. 29 he agreed with Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) that two years from now the Soviets might have many more ICBMs than the United States.

He said: "It is not our intention to match them missile for missile in ICBMs in the next two years."

But Tuesday he said that by December the United States will have roughly as many war-capable intercontinental ballistic missiles as the Soviets. This time he said he was talking about accuracy and reliability of missiles in place and ready for firing.

He said this country will have a few ICBMs by July and a few more by December 1959, which will be within a few missiles one way or the other, of what we could expect of the Russians at the same time.

McElroy challenged a contention by Democratic critics that the Soviet Union now leads this country in the ICBM field. He said neither nation has an operational ICBM now.

Last week Khrushchev said the Soviet Union had started serial production—without actually saying mass production of ICBMs. But he went on to imply Soviet long-range missiles can hit a target anywhere on earth right on the nose.

He said: "If the Soviet Union can launch a rocket hundreds of thousands of kilometers into outer space, it can launch powerful rockets with pinpoint accuracy to any part of the globe."

Tuesday Soviet Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky told the West its nuclear weapons are outdated. He said the Soviet Union has intercontinental ballistic missiles that can deliver hydrogen bomb warheads with pinpoint accuracy.

After this Malinovsky statement, McElroy and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told newsmen they don't believe the Soviets new claim to having the West outgunned with hydrogen missiles that hit on pinpoint.

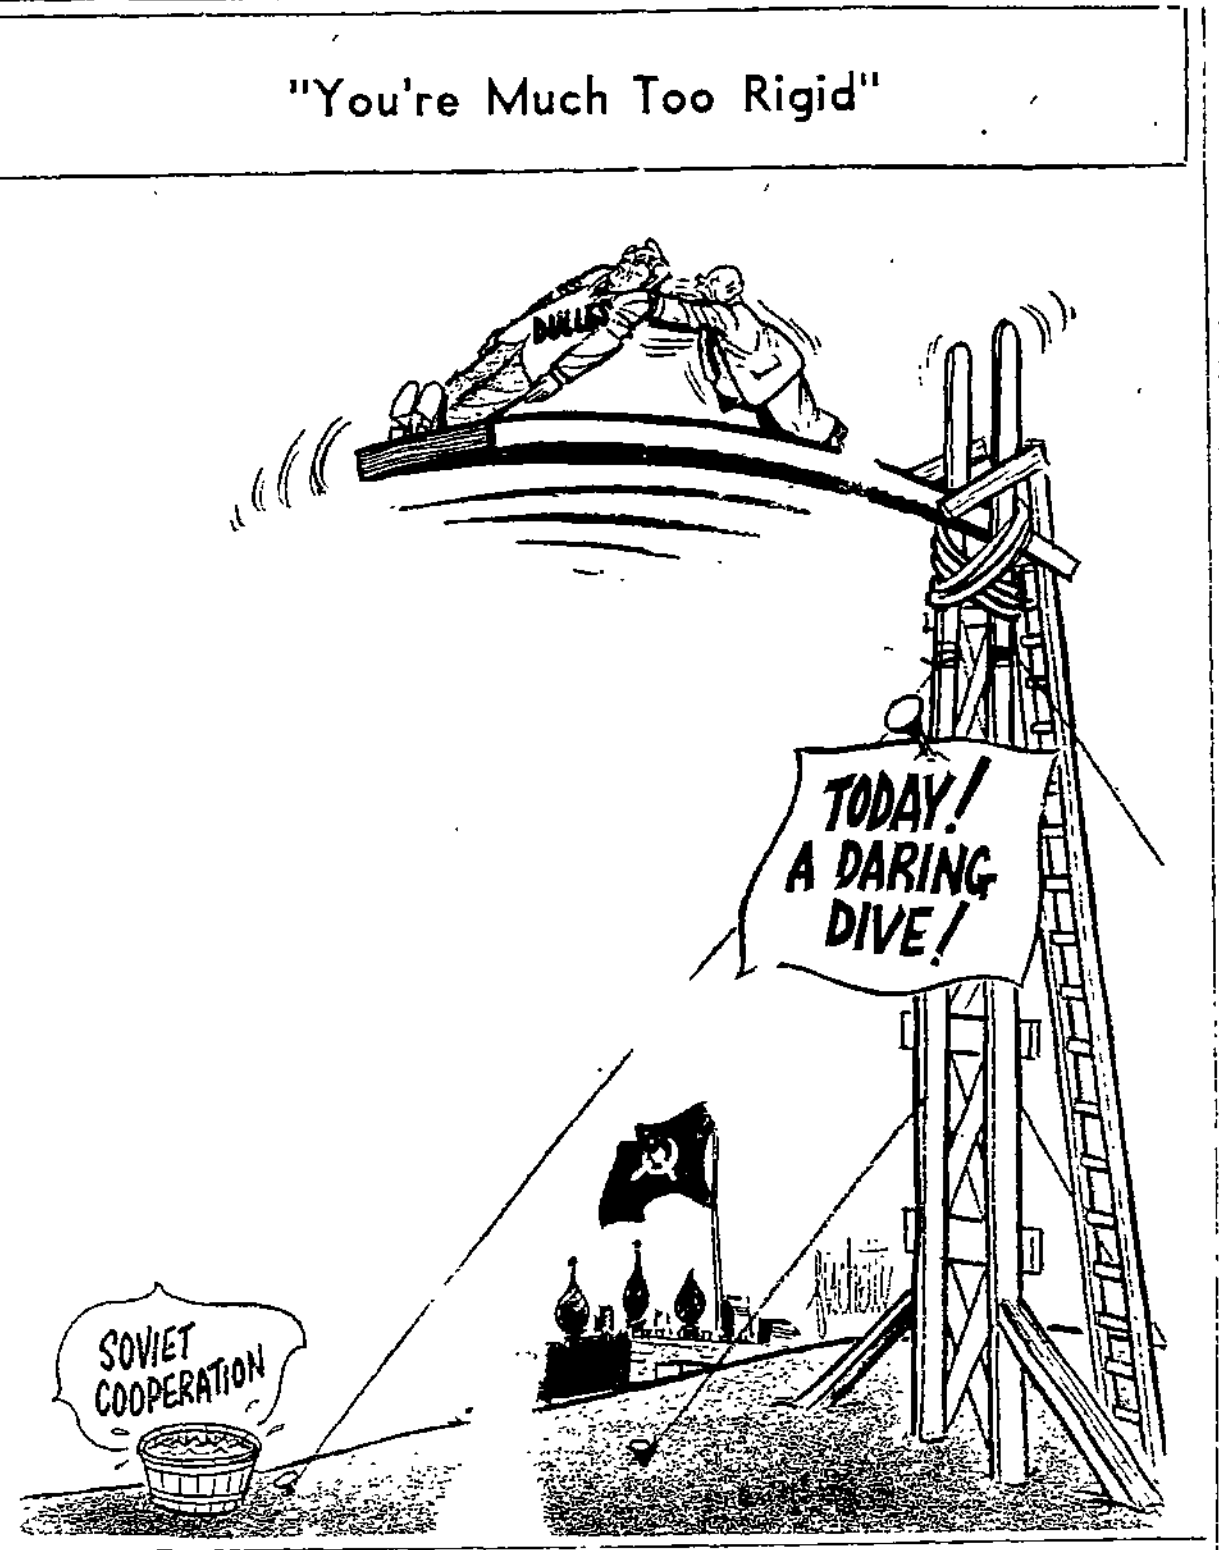

McElroy dismissed Malinovsky's statement as a "normal kind of statement in a way of nerves," Twining said flatly he didn't believe the Soviet boast.

McElroy said that in total war-making potential the United States is now clearly ahead of the Soviet Union. This is the opposite of what the Soviets say.

"You're Much Too Rigid"

Announcement of an important new industry acquired for Warren seventy years ago was made in the Evening Mirror of Saturday, February 2, 1889, in this manner: "The consummation so long wished for, and for which the Mirror has urged so strenuously and tenaciously, through its columns, is at last granted. Warren is to have manufacturing, and her great water power, railroad facilities, natural gas privileges, and best building sites on earth are to be taken full advantage of. That is, such is the present outlook, and the fulfillment of this assertion is only a matter of comparatively short time. As a means to that end, the entering wedge will be the establishment here of the B. A. Lynde & Sons Soap Factory, of Buffalo. Lest the title 'Soap factory' offend some polite ears, if not nostrils, it should be stated at once that the soap manufactured by this firm will not be the old-fashioned soft substance, made from offal, the stench from which ascends to high heavens; neither is it the common every-day variety of quality that chaps and roughens the skin. The Lynde soap is a patent process, the making of which is odorless, and combines the varieties of both the exquisite and perfumed toilet, equal to Pear's and that for laundry use, with the searching, dirt-defying grip. To Mr. A. S. Holmes, of the firm of Holmes & Adams, of the Glade Filtering works, belongs the first mention in connection with the intended establishment of Lynde & Sons' factory. Mr. Holmes told the firm of the unsurpassed advantages of Warren as a location for their business and the decision was made after the settlement of the preliminaries. Those enterprising citizens Messrs. A. J. Hazeltine, Francis Henry, J. P. Jefferson and L. D. Wetmore have arranged to put into the building—J. C. Fox, contractor—and have closed with the latter to go ahead with the work on the lot they have purchased. This is the Mike Sisk property on the corner of Pine and High streets. Lynde & Sons will furnish the machinery, asking only for the property at a fixed rate of interest, with the privilege of buying at the end of five years. The soap factory building will be 5x120, with wing 30x80, and a cellar under the whole structure. The roof and sides will be covered with corrugated iron. A dozen skilled males will be employed, from 20 to 50 ladies, the latter from Mr. Lynde stating that he has a large family and will plan to move to Warren by May first, and if a house is not available he will call upon the burghers to 'take him in.' Two other big manufacturing schemes are under way, to tend to the glory and business interests of Warren, which will be described as soon as a few preliminaries are settled. Right here it is appropriate to suggest that the board of trade call a meeting at once—if a 'bugle call' can find the members—and lend its influence to help along the sure boom that is only waiting for the word 'go' to start."

In connection with this story and the fact that Friday and Saturday will be Dollar Days in Warren it is interesting to look over advertisements that appeared in The Mirror back in 1889: For instance there is "P. Greenlund—Furniture Emporium, 440 Front street, next to the Episcopal church. Undertaking, all work in this line given careful attention, and satisfaction guaranteed; finest hearse in the county!" N. K. Wendelboe was doing business at 209 Liberty street; Thomas Brothers' Iron Works, was located at Clarendon; The Boston Shoe Store in the Diamond Block; G. Koebler, carriage manufacturer shop on Island, known as Old Factory Building; "Kopf & Henry" for Great-Bargains in Groceries and Provisions, successors to T. S. Messner & Co.; There were the Morck Bros., jewelers; D. H. Siggins, livery and boarding stable; Warren Hotel, J. W. Clements, proprietor; John Hepburn, physician; Ball & Thompson, attorneys at law; Baird's photography; A. C. McAlpine, dentist; Michael Strigoff was coming to Library Hall February 14th; Pisto's Cure; the Erie Railroad carried a large ad, as well Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters; and the Warren Savings Bank.

Federal Education Loan Plan Is Popular With Students

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The college student loan plan written into the National Defense Education Act last year has turned up a major surprise in popularity.

It was substituted for a 75-million-dollar scholarship program after an intellectual wrestling match in the closing weeks of the last Congress. The lawmakers in their infinite wisdom killed the scholarship plan and put a 295-million-dollar, four-year loan program in its place.

Few educators thought it would work. For, as Dr. Arthur Flemming, former president of Ohio Wesleyan and now secretary of Health Education and Welfare declares, up until recently, college loan funds had gone begging.

The most optimistic prediction was that not more than 800 of the 1,850 U. S. institutions of higher learning would take part in the new government student loan program.

IN THE FIRST FOUR months, 1,230 colleges and universities have applied for participation, asking for 62 million dollars in government money for this year.

This figure is double the amount Office of Education now has in sight. Congress appropriated six million dollars to get the program started this year. A supplemental 25 million is being asked to run the program until June 30. Unless the colleges are being over-optimistic in estimating student demand, it won't be enough.

Loans applied for now are expected to be small, to run students short of cash through this college year. For the next college year beginning in September, it is believed that loan applications will be larger, to cover a full nine months. But Office of Education has so far requested only another 31 million dollars for the year beginning July 1.

CONGRESS ORIGINALLY authorized—but has not appropriated for the student loan program—47½ million dollars the first year, 75 million the second, 82½ million the third and 90 million the fourth. This 295-million total would take care of 590,000 one-year loans of $500 average.

No student will be permitted to borrow over $1,000 a year, or $5,000 over five or more years. Interest is 2 per cent while the student is in college, and one year thereafter. Then the interest rate goes to 4 per cent. The loan must be repaid in 10 years.

Also, the law offers fellowships to graduate students preparing for college teaching. They will provide grants of $2,000 for the first year, $2,200 the second, $2,400 the third, plus $400 a year for each dependent.

ONE THOUSAND SUCH fellowships were to be granted the first year. But in the first four months of the program, 6,000 applications have been received. This response is likewise far heavier than was anticipated. Commissioner of Education, Lawrence G. Dertwick will make the first 160 grants early in February.

Last October DHEW Secretary Flemming declared that scholarships would still be needed, in addition to the loan and fellowship programs. The original plan was to give up to $1,000 a year for four years to exceptional students who could not pay for a higher education.

Unexpected popularity of the loan program, however, has shelved the scholarship idea. It is not mentioned in President Eisenhower's new budget. The administration's austerity program may have had something to do with killing it.

Boyle's Comment

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plator: Men invariably grow feeble with age. So, often, does their money.

Time waters down most currencies. This is happening in our own lives to the American dollar.

There is an old slang saying that "money talks," and it still does. But there was a time when the U. S. dollar didn't merely talk. It shouted in a voice admired and feared—around the globe.

This is no longer quite so true. The "almighty dollar" no longer is almighty. It has developed laryngitis. While other currencies have been building up muscle—such as the Swiss franc, the German mark—the dollar has been losing weight.

If a man had lost a much weight, comparatively, as the dollar has, he would be in a hospital bed calling for blood transfusions and an oxygen tent.

Postwar inflation has swept all countries to varying degrees. The creeping inflation in the United States has gone on so steadily that it is only occasionally we are sharply reminded that, while we have more money in our pockets now, it doesn't have the same value.

Here are two recent examples that made me sharply nostalgic for the dollar that was a dollar.

1. A lady in our office casually remarked that it now cost her $2.25 merely to park her car in a midtown Manhattan lot during working hours. Remember when a traveling man could get a good hotel room for $2 a night—and they parked the car free?

2. A panhandler hit me up. Scratching in my pockets, I found only 23 cents in change—and gave it to him with an apology. "Don't you have a buck you can spare?" he demanded.

Inflation waters down not only a people's currency; it also waters down their dreams. Its terrible cost is paid least-by the shiftless grasshopper, most by the thrifty ant—and thereby it violates the morality behind all sensible living.

Inflation doesn't wait for posterity to present its bill. It presents its bill now, too, and the hard-earned dollar a man saved yesterday to buy himself comfort tomorrow is spent to keep himself afloat in the high-priced world of today.

ANTIBODIES AGAINST CANCER

A vaccine for cancer may not be just around the corner but there is a good possibility that one will be developed within the next quarter century. This is a risky prediction, considering that the cause of the disease is not known.

There is growing evidence that the body attempts to develop resistance to malignant cells much as it does against invaders such as bacteria and viruses. The same action occurs when foreign tissues are implanted, such as a skin graft from another person or from an animal. These grafts may "take" for a short time but are not permanent. They are less useful than a person's own skin.

The body reacts to infection by forming protective antibodies that attach themselves to and inactivate the particular invader. These antibodies are protein molecules and the biochemist makes use of them in testing and treating diseases.

The Salk vaccine, for example, helps the system develop antibodies against polio. These antibodies can be measured in the blood and they increase markedly after the vaccine is administered. The increase is comparable to that which occurs after an attack of polio, showing that the degree of immunity is about the same.

Dr. Salk has been working on a comparable vaccine for cancer. The main drawback is lack of basic knowledge concerning the difference between a normal and a cancer cell. All cells are complicated structures and there must be some constituent or chemical in the cancer cell that is not in the normal cell, or vice versa. If this substance could be isolated and injected into a human or an animal, we might be able to create the antibodies necessary to protect us against cancer.

Thousands of studies along this line have been done. For example, when certain tumors are created artificially in rats, antibodies form that protect them from getting more tumors of the same type. In another experiment, a fatty substance was found in the cells of eight different rat cancers that did not exist in normal rat cells. Similar work on human malignancies has been less rewarding.

HEEL DEFECT

J. P. writes: Our 1 year old boy has tight heel cords and cannot stand flat on his feet. We are using braces at night to lengthen these cords. What could have caused this condition?

REPLY

Many children come into the world with imperfections of some sort or another. Unless a short tendon Achilles runs in your family, this must be a developmental defect. This cause of the latter is not known except that something happened at the time this part of your boy's anatomy was being formed. You might have had a cold or other type of viral infection or you may have been under physical or emotional stress at that time.

BEAUTIFUL BABY

Mrs. E. writes: My baby was not wrinkled when born. Is this because I had a cesarean birth?

REPLY

No. The amount of fat under the skin determines whether wrinkling is present, and how much. This never presents a problem, however, as the wrinkles disappear soon after the baby takes nourishment.

LOCKED FINGERS

C. P. writes: Could arthritis cause the fingers to lock after holding them rigid for a while, as in reading?

REPLY

Yes, in that stiffness is a symptom of arthritis. When it occurs in the circumstances mentioned, the condition is not too serious. It probably is associated with years of wear and tear.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—If you have a seat on the New York Stock Exchange, you can get 103 per cent more for it today than a year ago. So why are seats being sold? Has the growth of the mutual funds helped send prices soaring?

Chief reason over the years for offering a seat for sale has been the death of the owner, and next old age or crippling illness. In times of extremely dull markets, however, a seat holder may want to get out of a poor paying business, or the brokerage firm of which he is a partner may not need that many seats.

An official says that the chief reasons for buying a seat are that someone in the securities business wants to be a member, someone likes the business and wants to get into it, or that one of the member firms has so much business it needs more persons privileged to do business on the floor.

Mutual funds play an indirect role. They aren't listed or sold on the exchange. A broker needn't be a member of the exchange to sell them.

But the funds themselves give members lots of business. As they grow they buy more stocks and do more switching in stocks. A brokerage firm hence may need another seat on the floor.

What are the privileges of membership? Chief one is the right to go on the floor and transact business or to trade through other members on the floor at member rates—which are lower than commissions that nonmembers must pay. A member, like a stockholder, is one of the owners of the exchange and can vote on its rules. Also, there is that $20,000 his family eventually will get on his death.

To keep members in line the stock exchange requires annual audits of the books by outside accountants of the firm's own choice. Then once a year a surprise audit is made by accountants.

The Securities and Exchange Commission keeps a close eye on the whole affair. The Federal Reserve Board decides how much or little trading can be done on margin and how much must be done in cash.

You pay a lot these days for a seat. But, as is well-known, there actually are no seats on the floor. You stand while you work, or maybe lean a little on a counter. But with the market the way it is today, you get precious little rest.

High School Students Combine for Unusual Evening of Music and Art

At 8:00 p. m. Saturday, the annual Warren High School Band and Orchestra Concert, under the direction of Harry A. Summers, will be held in Beatty Junior High School auditorium.

Together with this musical program, the High School Art Department, supervised by Fred Schultz, will present an exhibit of its work: a pre-Valentine dance in the bandroom will follow the concert.

The band's portion of the program will feature numbers from "My Fair Lady". Broadway production by Alan Lerner and Frederick Lowe, and one of the outstanding musicals of our time.

A novelty number featuring a soloist will be most enjoyable, but further disclosure of situations surrounding the performance would detract from this zany arrangement.

The orchestra program has been selected with the listener in mind, opening as it does with a brilliant arrangement of tunes from "The King and I".

Broadway show written by Rogers and Hammerstein.

Gudrun Ensslin, violinist, with Kapeni Ersson, cellist, and Susan Warner, pianist, will combine their talents in selections as a string trio.

Adding a touch of modern writing, the orchestra will play Claire Gundersen's "Two Sketches For Orchestra", its chords and harmonies pacifying any modernist. A drop of romantic spice will be provided in the immortal George Gershwin's "The Man I Love".

The Art Department has planned many interesting productions for its show in the cafeteria, with some of the talented art students on hand to explain the work and add to enjoyment of those attending.

To conclude the evening, all who have concert tickets are cordially invited to a free dance and light refreshments in Beatty bandroom.

Complete cost for the evening is a low 50 cents and tickets may be had from any of the music or art students.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH DONALD SCALISE

Genevieve Ruth Gnagey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Gnagey, 145 Conewango avenue, and Joseph Donald Scalise, son of Mrs. Rose Scalise and the late Natale Scalise, 119 North South street, were wed January 31 in Holy Redeemer church.

Father Joseph Seybold performed the double ring ceremony at 10:30 a. m. before an altar decorated with white larkspur and chrysanthemums. White satin bows marked family pews.

Traditional music was provided by the organist, Mrs. Thomas Donnelly, with Mary Mangus and Mrs. Charles Armstrong singing "Panis Angelicus" and "Ave Maria". As Joseph Gnagey sang "Mother, At Thy Feet Is Kneeling", the bride placed a white carnation bouquet on the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in white tulle and ivory satin, the fitted bodice accented with pearls, the neckline high in front and dipping to a "vee" in the back, sleeves long and fitted. Her pearl jewelry was the bridegroom's gift and a satin headband held her veil of illusion net, which was lace trimmed in a scalloped design. Completing her ensemble, she carried a cascade arrangement of white baby orchids, white feathered carnations and ivy.

Her sister, Mrs. John C. White, was matron of honor; two other sisters, Virginia and Kathryn Gnagey, were bridesmaid and junior bridesmaid. All were gowned alike in turquoise taffeta, with short sleeves and scoop necklines in fitted bodices, and full cocktail length skirts. Each had a matching Dior headband and shoes, and all carried cascade bouquets of rust colored pom poms encircled with white pom poms.

Lawrence Scalise of Erie acted as best man and ushers were Robert Scalise, Warren, and George Scalise, Marblehead, Mass.

The bride's mother was attired in teal faille with black accessories and pink feathered carnation corsage, while the mother of the bridegroom chose medium blue with steel blue accessories and pink rosebud corsage.

A wedding breakfast for 100 guests followed at Penn-Laurel Motel and featured a white floral centerpiece accented with rust pom poms. The three-tier wedding cake was based in ivory. Reception aides were Mrs. Arnold Allen, Mrs. Thomas Masterson, Margaret Scalise and Kay Evan, with guests present from Erie, Franklin, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Edinboro, Boston, Mass., and Buffalo, N. Y.

Leaving for a wedding trip to Miami, Fla., the bride wore charcoal gray with black accessories and white orchid corsage. The couple will be at home after February 18 at 172 Grove street, Tonawanda, N. Y.

Mrs. Scalise, a Warren High School and Arra Jean Beauty Academy graduate, was formerly employed at Warren State Hospital as beautician. Mr. Scalise graduated from Warren High School and received his engineering degree from Penn State College. The bridegroom served four years with the U. S. Navy and is presently employed by Frontier Oil Refinery in Tonawanda, N. Y.

All Ages Will Enjoy Woman's Club Review

Many in Warren and vicinity are looking forward to the unusual entertainment, "A Century of Fashions and Music", which is to be presented in the Woman's Club auditorium at 8:30 p. m. Thursday.

Mrs. Harvey Osgood, Jamestown, is producing the show, which has a large cast and will be entirely costumed in authentic apparel of the past century. They will appear in a variety of original skits which should prove of interest to all men, women and children of all ages.

Mrs. Hugh R. Robertson, president of the Woman's Club, is general chairman for the affair; Mrs. Merle Kremer, assistant.

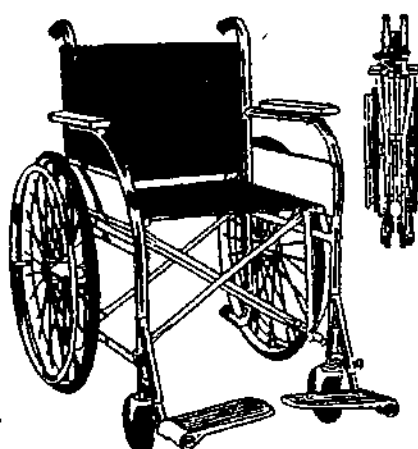

ed by Mrs. William Crossett, is general ticket chairman; the following are working on ticket sales as group chairmen:

Mrs. G. N. Hamilton, Mrs. Melvin Keller, Miss Martha Topper, Miss Jean Steele, Miss Arvilla Ittel, Mrs. Ray Suess and Miss Margaret Wright. Publicity for the event has been in charge of Mrs. J. H. DeFrees and Mrs. William Wright.

GROUP MEETING
Members of Ruth Ransom Society of Grace Methodist church will hold their regular meeting at 7:45 p. m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. H. J. Samuelson, 625 Conewango avenue.

Community Choir of 93 Voices To Be Heard in Mendelssohn Oratorio

On Sunday afternoons, between 3:00 and 4:30 o'clock, the sanctuary of First Presbyterian church has been ringing with the beautiful and often thrilling music of Mendelssohn's "Elijah" oratorio.

A chorus of 93 community singers, accompanied at the Casavant organ by Richard A. Sides, organist of Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, and conducted by Carroll A. Fowler, church and school music director, has steadily progressed toward learning the difficult music of Part II of the oratorio and will present it as a musical service at 4:00 p. m. Sunday February 15, in the Presbyterian church sanctuary.

Robert Mosley, well known baritone of Pittsburgh, will sing the part of Elijah. Other soloists are Romaine Ericsson and Sarah King, sopranos; Violet Borg, contralto; Robert Dietsch, tenor; Everett Borg, baritone.

Also to be heard in portions of the music are the Junior Choir and the Treble Choir of Westminster Choirists, both youth groups of First Presbyterian church.

Plans are being made, in case the need arises, to handle any overflow congregation in the basement of the church, where the music may be satisfactorily heard through the sound system. The committee in charge of the service is anxious that no one be turned away, as was the case last year, when standing space in the sanctuary was filled.

Choir Sets Date for Winter Presentation

The annual Winter Concert of Warren High School A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Carroll A. Fowler, will be presented to the public in Beatty Junior High School auditorium at 8:15 p. m. Thursday, February 26.

The program will include several selections sung by the choir with orchestral accompaniment by high school musicians. Special features will include a Scrambled Opera group, madrigals, cello solos, and Waring's arrangement of the Nutcracker Suite, accompanied by Sue Werner and Linda Dashem.

Tickets will be available at 50 cents, starting February 6, from any member of the choir and all are urged to keep this date in mind for a pleasant evening of musical entertainment.

AUXILIARY SMORGASBORD
The Ladies Auxiliary of Pleasant Volunteer Fire Department will sponsor another famous smorgasbord Saturday, February 7. Chicken with biscuit, sauerkraut and weiners will be featured with other meat dishes as well as home-made pies and cakes. Complete details will be advertised in the Times-Mirror.

Real name of Van Cliburn, noted young concert pianist, is Harvey Lavan Cliburn, Jr.

The Mature Parent

Mother's Anger Prompts Lies From Her Children

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

You and I both know what will happen if the taps are left running into a plugged basin. Water will overflow and start working through to the ceiling plaster of the room below. If bathroom water taps are not turned off, we know we get a stained or fallen dining room ceiling.

So when we find that our 6-year-old has left them running to converse with a friend on the front porch, our awareness of the disasters he's invited makes us mad. We call him. We say with angry accusation, "Andy, you left the bathroom taps running, didn't you?"

If Andy is a normal child, he may deny it. He will lie, not because he's an infant sinner but because our anger has suggested he's done something awful. To him, letting the taps run is just letting water come out of them.

He denies letting the taps run because we have made his action monstrous. We have in fact, accused him of trying to bring down the dining room ceiling.

Angry accusations that suggest children have committed awful acts induce them to lie.

When Doreen denies taking the dime we left on the table, it does not necessarily mean she's lost to a virtuous way of life. She denies it because our angry or frightened question contains feeling toward her theft that she doesn't share.

She'll burst into tears, protesting, "I didn't take it, Mommy." We wring our hands, thinking, "Oh my, what a liar I have brought into the world." This is pretty silly. What Doreen has denied is not her action but our horrified interpretation of it.

If we want the truth from children, anger is not the way to get it. Andy doesn't possess our grownup knowledge of what running bathroom faucets can do to dining room ceilings. They are just handles you sometimes fail to turn off.

Our fury at his mistake just makes it so strange he can't recognize it as his and claim it as his own.

Like Doreen, he'll stubbornly deny his action because our anger gives the action a meaning that it cannot possibly have for him.

His lie is a response, not to the question we've asked but to the violent feeling behind it.

STATE HOSPITAL SCOUT TROOP NEWS

Seven members of Warren State Hospital Girl Scout Troop recently received their Tenderfoot badges at the home of Mrs. Robert Stewart, North Warren. Mrs. Stewart is co-leader of Troop 35, which is working in conjunction with the Hospital Troop, of which Miss Demaris Smock is leader.

Miss Ursula Johnson, executive of Warren-Forest County Council, invested Miss Smock in a traditional ceremony, after which Miss Smock presented Tenderfoot pins to seven girls. Troop 35 has been active since November in aiding the young Hospital patients with their formation of a troop.

Two of the Hospital Girl Scouts presented a puppet show, using a miniature theatre designed and decorated by themselves.

BPW PLANS MEETING
Warren Business and Professional Women's Club will meet Tuesday evening, February 10, at the YWCA cafeteria with Hulda Angermann, chairman of public affairs committee, in charge of program.

Charles Preston is named guest speaker to bring an interesting message to the organization.

Those unable to attend must cancel standing dinner reservations with Adda Logan, 183, no later than Saturday.

DORCAS CLASS

Dorcas Class members of First Lutheran church will hold their regular meeting at 8:00 p. m. Thursday, when the guest speaker will be Miss Bartoo, and a large attendance is asked.

EAGLES' AUXILIARY

Lady Eagles held their regular meeting Tuesday evening, with a fine attendance. Helen Adams installed two new officers, Marie Anderson, secretary, and Margaret Young, trustee. Caroline McKelvy was appointed to the visiting committee for February; Jessie Eadie won the attendance prize.

Plans were formulated for a sauerkraut supper February 22, serving to begin at 1:00 p. m. A small donation will be asked and proceeds will be used for the Home on the Range program. All Eagles' Lodge and Auxiliary members are urged to keep this date open and support the project.

FIRE AUXILIARY

RUSSELL — The monthly meeting of Russell Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary was held in the fire hall with an attendance of 20 members. Mrs. Joseph Tarr presided; it was reported 20 persons attended the county meeting held at Kinzua.

Volunteers for serving coffee at fires are Mrs. Glen Peterson, Mrs. Harold Hilcomb and Mrs. Charles Miller. Members were reminded their next meeting will be held February 25, with a tureen supper. Mrs. Miller received the traveling prize.

Free Methodists To Have County Session

SUGAR GROVE — The local Free Methodist church, under the leadership of its pastor, the Rev. R. E. Williams, will entertain the quarterly conference of the Oil City District on Saturday of this week.

The program for the all-day session will open at 10:00 a. m. with prayer time and bread-breaking for ministers, also the business session of the Women's Missionary Society. At 10:30, there will be a preaching service, with adjournment at 12:00 noon, for dinner in the school cafeteria.

Resuming at 1:30 p. m., the quarterly conference meeting will be held; at 3:30, Free Methodist Youth will have its business session; at 5:00, a smorgasbord will be served in the school cafeteria; at 7:00, the day's activities will be brought to a close with a song service and sermon.

The district superintendent, the Rev. H. C. Jacobs, will remain in town for Sunday morning and evening preaching services at the local church. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend any or all of these services.

JAMESTOWN CONCERT

Local members of the Jamestown Concert Association are reminded their next event will be the appearance of the world-famous pianist, Paul Badura-Skoda, in Jamestown High School auditorium at 8:30 p. m. Saturday of this week.

In musically sophisticated New York, the debut recitalist frequently plays to a dozen well-wishing relatives and, if he is lucky, half as many critics. Paul Badura-Skoda made history when he attracted a capacity audience to Town Hall for his first Manhattan appearance in January, 1953, and this particular bit of history has repeated itself whenever and wherever he has played, with reviews to match.

HEAR UNUSUAL TALK

The Community Service Department of the Woman's Club presented Richard Morrison, of Kinzua, as speaker for the regular Monday afternoon club meeting. Well known sportsman and friend of the Cornplanter Indians, Mr. Morrison showed slides and told of his experience in re-hiking the trail of Philip Tome, first white man in Corydon and for 15 years interpreter for Chief Cornplanter. In Philip Tome's book, "Pioneer Life", he wrote of going after live elk for Cornplanter. It was this trail Mr. Morrison followed from Kinzua, in Warren county, through Elk, Potter, Cameron and Clinton counties to Lycoming county, a trip which took him 18 days. The audience was captivated, not only by his colorful and excellent pictures, but by his humor, and his shrewd and honey comments.

Following the meeting and program, Mrs. Donald Mervine was hostess for tea, assisted by Mrs. John Roop and Mrs. Paul Harrington.

Mirrored in Our Times

Right off the bat we must mention a current cartoon caption wherein a husband wonders if his wife would fit into a "nose cone!"

Because dog owners should at this time have purchased new licenses for their various critters, we are interested in a few dog stories. Our own pup arrived home yesterday with a large branch from some rose bush—not in his mouth but firmly imbedded in his bushy tail!...a thorn by any other name is still painful...not only that, it hurts too.

Do you remember when Saturday night was bath night? Even though you are too young to recall such "good old days," most of you agree that there's nothing as relaxing and wonderful as a refreshing bath...however, we live in an era of progress—a time when baths are not entirely a means of cleanliness. New words are coined from day to day to apply to the new ideas. Having been advised of the remarkable benefits derived from world famous Hot Springs and Spas, the modern generation should be educated to expect a drug store item created to achieve special effects! We refer, of course, to "Batherapy"—a formula of concentrated bath salts similar to the aforementioned springs and spas. It's so utterly simple—a handful of this unique preparation in warm bath water assures you the soothing, relaxing therapy of hot mineral baths that Europeans have enjoyed for years!

If you're seeking relief from body fatigue, aching muscles or nervous tension (and who isn't after our sustained winter?), buy and try "Batherapy" at The Warren Drug Store today. A one pound jar, priced at $2.95 is sufficient for 15 to 20 baths. Here is a perfect way to relax at home. Why not try this unique product?

We noted last evening that many interested people in North Warren are seeking borough government status and from early reports it would seem that the majority citizens might favor such action. It was also made obvious that Youngsville Borough Council faced the fluoridation issue in agreement with Warren borough—i.e.—let the voters signify intentions in May.

It's interesting to realize that despite the most accurate survey of clothing necessities, the average man is prone to be lacking the one garment he actually needs the most. If he appears in a colored shirt, chances are that he should be wearing white! If an invitation reads "black tie"—there's more to that than meets the eye! Some men still protest the so-called "stiff collar"—others acclaim the modern idea. Some family men are so concerned with the trend evidenced in milady's fashions that they lose track of what's the "best in menswear."

It's this way—if you know the way to The Style Shop you've found the way to "the best in menswear"...AND! once you've discovered this way, you'll not go wrong! It's like the words of any popular song—everything purchased at The Style Shop goes together—everywhere!

Such a winter! What's your experience? Haven't you found that all of your friends, family members and casual acquaintances just as weary as you?...and aren't you anticipating that grand and glorious, infectious disease known as "spring fever"? Forget the nasty little groundhog—what does he know about it?—let's look forward to a new season, but better it should happen soon!

Large Crowd in Attendance at Elk P. E. R. Night

Annual Past Exalted Rulers' Night, observed by Warren Lodge No. 223, B. P. O. Elks, at the regular meeting Tuesday evening, according to all reports, attracted a capacity crowd and proved one of the most interesting and enjoyable events witnessed at the club in many years.

The club dinner served by the house committee at 6:30 proved a delightful curtain raiser for the full evening of business and entertainment. The invocation was by Chaplain Howard Johnson.

Leonard Whiteshot filled the chair of exalted ruler for the business meeting. Other officers were filled by past exalted rulers as follows: Leading knight, Fred Lenker; loyal knight, Frank Mason; lecturing knight, Dick Schumacher; esquire, Joe Gobliger; chaplain, Ken Graham; inner guard, William McIntyre; tiler, Pat Harvey; secretary, Ross Ruhlman; treasurer, Claude Schindler.

Following the business session, which was abbreviated to provide time for the entertainment, a New York floor show was presented under the auspices of the P. E. R.'s.

Included among the guests from Franklin, Jamestown, Kane and Rome, N. Y., was Plummer Printz, a past exalted ruler, who resides at Lakewood, N. Y.

Now Is the Time to Order Tree Seedlings

Only two weeks, until February 15th, remain to order low cost, State Nursery grown forest tree seedlings. Several highly recommended species still are available. Red Pine, White Pine, Austrian Pine and Norway Spruce are trees producing local wood products. Hemlock is desirable for fill-in and watershed planting. A limited supply of Chinese Chestnut seedlings may be ordered for wildlife purposes.

Recent surveys show that over 20,000 cords of local wood went through industrial wood grinders for pulp and paper production in one year. Instead of impregnable Hawthorne bushes on your idle land, you can be selling wood to local industry in 25-30 years if you plant this land now. While your trees mature they provide soil protection, flood protection, beautification and wildlife refuge.

Request an application and free bulletin, "Trees To Plant In Pennsylvania," by sending a postal card to District Forester, Box 807, Warren, Pennsylvania.

Shipment of Oil From Behind the Curtain Protested

WASHINGTON (AP)—The coal industry and two senators from West Virginia have protested the announced plans of the Commerce Oil Corp. of Warren, Pa. to purchase a shipment of residual oil from Communist Romania.

The National Coal Assn., said Tuesday the shipment is "only the entering wedge of a determined Communist drive to... seriously damage the essential American coal and oil industries."

Democratic Sens. Robert C. Byrd and Jennings Randolph of West Virginia wired expressions of "deep concern" to President Eisenhower and Secretary of Commerce Lewis Strauss.

Harry R. Lewis, president of Commerce, said the shipment of about 15,000 tons of residual oil is an experiment that "may point the way toward peaceful exchange of needed products between the east and the west."

He said the oil's low sulphur content makes it a premium product in short supply in the U. S. He added:

"We don't like them (the Russians) any more than you do, but this low sulphur oil is badly needed."

Coal interests and coal state congressmen have been seeking restrictions on residual oil imports on grounds they hurt the coal market.

NEW YORK (AP)—A shipment of oil, described as a trial cargo that may lead to the breaking of the trade barrier between East and West, is due here from behind the Iron Curtain this month.

The Commerce Oil Corp., with home offices in Warren, Pa., said 15,000 tons of residual oil—an increase of 10,000 tons of residual oil—an industrial fuel—from Romania.

Harry R. Lewis, corporation president, said the oil's low sulphur content makes it a premium product, which is in short supply in this country.

"We don't like them (the Russians) any more than you do," Lewis said, "but this low-sulphur oil is badly needed."

The company said it had not bought the oil at a cut price or to upset the domestic market. Lewis called the shipment a trial cargo that "may point the way toward a peaceful exchange of needed products between the West and East."

He indicated further shipments would follow to meet the need here.

THE STORY OF MARTHA WAYNE By WILSON SCRUGS

HI, HO! ALL PACKED FOR OUR SECOND HONEYMOON? JUST THINK IN AN HOUR OR SO WE'LL BE ON OUR WAY!

BARNEY, I WISH YOU WOULDN'T WEAR THAT SHIRT!

IT'S ONLY THAT I THOUGHT A SPORT SHIRT MIGHT BE MORE PRACTICAL IF YOU'RE GOING TO DO A LOT OF DRIVING.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH IT? IT'S A BRAND NEW!

AS BARNEY STRIPS OFF HIS SHIRT, NANCY INVOLUNTARILY GASPS ALOUD.

WHAT'S WRONG?

Sharpshooting Nick Creola Sparks Blue & White to a Fourth Straight Victory

Sharpshooting Nick Creola sparked the Warren Dragons to their fourth Section II victory last night as the Blue and White cagers turned back the Corry Beavers, 64-39, before a fair sized crowd on the losers' hardwood.

Creola, the Dragon offensive ace, fired 19 points through the ring, aiding in the romp were Dick Wilson, Mike Cashman and Joe Massa with 12, 12 and 11 respectively. Cashman and Wilson dominated the rebounding chores in stellar fashion against the shorter but scrappy Beavers.

Warren never trailed from the moment Cashman hit on a jump shot with second gone after the opening tip. Wilson's drive and set along with two assists got Warren off and running with a 15-7 first quarter lead. In a slow and sluggish second period during which the Dragons were guilty of several miscues, the locals were only able to rack up eight points to Corry's seven. Fortunately for the charges of Coach Joe Massa, their defensive work stood out. Corry, attempting to maneuver the ball around Warren's defense and into their main scoring threat, Bob Williams, was having difficulty in carrying out their plan of attack. When they couldn't find their target, they shot hurriedly and missed the bucket. Creola sank two goals with Wilson and Mike Cashman getting one each to provide all of Warren's second stanza output. The score at half read Warren 23, Corry 14.

Discouraged over his team's showing, Coach Massa proceeded to give his athletes a "dressing down" during the intermission in an effort to awaken them from their lethargy. It was obvious that they were far from the same team that battled a cagey and alert Franklin team last Friday.

The tempo of the game quickened in the second half with Warren showing signs of life by outscoring Corry 41-25. At times they took advantage of fast break situations and capitalized on an easy two. Creola led the second half surge with 13 of his 19 markers while Joe Massa contributed nine. Dick Wilson hit for five and Cashman stuffed three goals. Mark Peterson showed flashes of his old form by making several steals and wound up with an easy "snowbird" Craig Johnson looped in a beautiful jumper to wind up Warren's scoring at 64. "Big Bill" Mervine, the target of friendly jibes from a group of Corry spectators, obliged by scoring on a lay-up.

Warren got stronger as the game progressed. The pressure

Franklin	5	1
Warren	4	2

Meadville	3	2
Oil City	1	4
Corry	0	5

which they applied is shown in the 24 point fourth quarter total. Eleven different players saw action with eight of them swishing the cords from all angles on the floor.

Warren's triumph deadlocks them for second place with Titusville at 4 and 2. Franklin continues to lead the league with a 5-1 record. In last night's crucial game, the Titusville Rockets gained revenge on the Meadville Bulldogs by taking them into camp 61-55. The league is now in its late stages and anything can happen. Warren remains in contention but must display a better brand of ball if they want to cop the bunting.

Despite Warren's showing, comparative scores show that the Corry five held Meadville to a 63-45 score last week and at the same time limited Hunter, the Bulldog ace, to a couple of goals. Last night the same lad that ruined Warren managed to score only two points. Meadville also dipped to a new low in foul shooting in the Corry game; they converted 3 of 23. This Friday Warren takes to the road again, playing the Oil City Oilers on the Lincoln Junior High gym. Then it will be Titusville, Meadville and Franklin in that order before the season closes.

Rookie Prospects

Washington Senators
By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The Washington Senators have invited two outfield hopefuls to their spring training camp at Orlando, Fla.

If the minor league records of these newcomers—Leonard Tucker and Dan Dobek—mean anything, it should prove to be a mighty interesting experiment.

Tucker, with six years of minor league experience, is technically on the Chattanooga roster. But the Senator's brass is so intrigued by his hitting potential they invited him to demonstrate his talents.

Tucker three years ago batted .404, slugged 51 home runs and drove in 191 runs in the Class B Southwestern League.

Dobek recently was discharged from the Army. In his first season of professional ball he hit .340 in a B league, after being signed from Western Michigan College. He reported to the Nationals spring camp in 1956 and impressed everybody with long ball hitting ability.

Dobek will be a candidate for centerfield along with Jimmy Delving, recently acquired from Detroit, and Bob Allison, rookie up from Chattanooga.

Allison is the one considered most likely to make good. He has the reputation of being a good hitter, a fine defensive outfielder, and a speedy runner. In 150 games with Chattanooga, he batted .307.

Manager Cookie Lavagetto, who has been having trouble at second base, will inspect three newcomers at that position. Ronnie Samford, acquired from Detroit, apparently has the inside track.

Samford had a fine year at Charleston, W. Va., where he was named the team's most valuable player, batting .301 in 151 games. Johnny Schaive, who hit .294 at Chattanooga, also looks like a fairly good prospect.

The other aspirant for the regular keystone job is Dick Harris, son of Bucky Harris, former Washington manager who recently succeeded Joe Cronin as Boston Red Sox general manager. Young Harris batted .256 at Charlotte with nine homers and 61 RBIs.

There is no hot-shot among the new pitching contingent. Garland Shifflett, right-hander, won 13 and lost 11 at Charlotte. He's been up before as has right-handers Ted Abernathy and Dick Mesa, as well as southpaw Ralph Lumetti.

Next — Chicago Cubs.

Trojans Shatter Scoring Mark To Defeat N. A.

The Jamestown Sun sports writer says Southwesterns once-beaten Trojans blasted away at the school scoring record and sent it crashing with a 21-point fourth period burst while louncing Northern Area, 80-43, Tuesday night on the West Elliott floor.

The victory was the tenth in 11 starts for Coach Gene Erb's veteran campaigners and a good tuneup for Friday's Lake Shore League clash on the home garden against a vastly improved Gowanda five.

Southwestern's scoring spree broke the record of 74 points which the 1957-58 club tallied while shellacking Salamanca, 74-17.

Four of the first five for the Trojans charted markers in double digits. Mal MacDonald led the way with eight fielders and six free throws for 23 points. Don Siegel and Reg Erb tied for second, the former meshing five two-pointers and two one-pointers and the latter collecting six field goals. Russ Zimmer had a 4-3-11 line. The fifth starter, John Richard, who was hampered with four fouls mid-way in the third period, registered three and three for nine.

The smaller but scrappy Knights had a miserable evening at the field with diminutive Al Ludwig taking scoring honors with 10 points on three baskets and four foul shots. Denny McNally, lone senior on the Eisenhower Central School varsity squad, chipped in with nine.

Zimmer and Richard were benched midway in the third period due to four fouls but the Trojans rolled up a 21-point period with a balanced attack to enter the final eight minutes with a 59-34 cushion.

In the preliminary contest the Baby Trojans turned back the Baby Knights, 42-31. Johnny Adams drilled home 17 for the winners and Clarence Braley tallied a like number for the victims.

The loss snapped a four-game win streak for the Eagles and set them at a 6-6 record.

After a 10-10 first period the Park took a 20-12 halftime lead the lone Eagle to score in the second period was Chuck Halfast.

The winners broke the game wide open in the third stanza as Jack Humphreys hammered in nine points and Sandy Dalglish six. Jan Agnew showed 10 for the Eagles as they fell behind 41-29.

A 23-point onslaught in the final minutes of play with Dalglish getting eight and Jim Cipalla seven, put the finishing touches on the game.

Humphreys led the winners with 18; Cipalla had 16 and Dalglish 14. Agnew led the losers with 14.

Clarendon Leading; Trims Grace Methodist

Clarendon Methodist leads senior division of Church Basketball League with a 5-1 record as they trimmed Grace Methodist 65-44 on the Grace court last evening.

A fourth period scoring spree by Clarendon pushed them far into the lead after they were ahead by only one point, 41-40, end of the third. Clarendon outscored Grace 24-4 in fourth.

Scoring for Clarendon were: Lobdell had 17; Land and Henry with 16; Brian and Albaugh dished 8 each. For Grace: Haslet scooped 18, Armstrong hit for 11; Beck collected 8 and Brach 7.

Thursday Clarendon will go against First Baptist in the Baptist hardwood while Grace Methodist will host Holy Redeemer five. All contests at 8 p. m.

Coal of Colts Rewarded With A $25,000 Bonus

BALTIMORE (AP)—Weeb Ewbank's gamble with job security was paid off handsomely.

The little coach who led the Baltimore Colts to their first National Football League title in 1958 was rewarded Tuesday night with a $25,000 bonus and a new three-year contract calling for $30,000 annually.

Carroll Rosenbloom, principal owner of the Colts, said the contract will be renegotiated each year. That means Ewbank will receive at least two years' salary in the event he is fired.

Game at Atlanta Baffles Players As Well as Fans

JACKSONVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Jacksonville State met high flying Oglethorpe University of Atlanta in a basketball game Tuesday night that baffled players and fans.

The halftime score was 0-0, and it looked as if it might be a 0-0 tie at the end of regulation time, too, until Oglethorpe managed to throw a hard freeze and win, 30-17.

Coach Tom Roberson of Jacksonville explained a strategy he says should have won.

Oglethorpe, tops on defense among the nation's small colleges, came to Jacksonville with a 15-1 record. Roberson says he simply wanted to win.

Coach Garland Pihlster of Oglethorpe was disgusted after the 0-0 half. He berated Roberson.

FIELD AND STREAM MEETING ROUTINE

Largely routine business matters were before Warren Field and Stream club when they met in YMCA last evening. Much discussion centered around the Wally Taber show to be presented in Beaty Feb. 17. The club voted to sponsor annual spring trip for conservation class at Warren High School. William Overturn gave an interesting and informative talk on browse cutting in Warren and Forest counties.

Byrd Closing in on College Scoring Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Leo Byrd, 6-1 senior from Marshall, scored 39 points against Morehead (Ky.) State Tuesday night to close in on leader Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and runner-up Jim Hagan of Tennessee Tech in the major college basketball scoring race.

Byrd's output enabled him to boost his game average from 28.6 to 29.3. He has scored 468 points in 16 games. Robertson and Hagan, both idle, remained at 32.9 and 29.4, respectively.

Don Hennon of Pitt and Jerry West of West Virginia were the only others among the top 10 to see action. West outscored Hennon 16-13 in the Mountaineers' 73-64 victory over Pittsburgh.

Hennon's season mark dropped to 26.8 and West's to 25.4. The Pittsburgh ace still holds the No. 5 spot while West is in seventh position.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Terry Brennan, former Notre Dame football coach, has a new job getting the Cincinnati Redlegs' major league baseball players into shape.

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Rosensohn, promoter of the coming Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight, was scheduled to leave tonight for Indianapolis on his cross-country tour to inspect prospective sites.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A clinic here Feb. 26 is expected to attract 1,700 high school and college coaches with Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson and Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty directing.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Virgil Akins, the up-and-down St. Louis fighter, is confident he will regain the welterweight title from Champion Don Jordan of Los Angeles in their rematch March 6 at St. Louis.

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—Nine schools have entered teams in the university and college divisions of the West Texas Relays but the feature is due to be a pair of exhibition races involving famed runners Bobby Morrow, Dave Sime and Glenn Davis.

Roberts, Cepeda And Skowron All Sign Contracts

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
A trio of big ones—Robin Roberts, Bill Skowron and Orlando Cepeda—were in the fold today as major league baseball clubs faced squarely the problem of getting their stars signed before the start of spring training.

The official opening of the training season looms less than a month away. For some players, notably pitchers, catchers and rookies, the date for reporting is only about two weeks off.

Roberts, the Philadelphia Phil's six-time 20-game winner, Thursday signed a pact in the neighborhood of $40,000. After compiling a poor 10-22 record in '57, Roberts returned to form last year, fashioning a 17-14 mark for the last-place Phils.

The feat earns him the AP's comeback of the year award in the National League.

The Yankees induced Skowron to agree to terms for $20,000, the same as last season. The first baseman fell off a bit during the '58 campaign, falling below .300 for the first time in his career.

Cepeda said in San Juan, Puerto Rico where he has been playing winter ball, that he mailed his signed contract to the San Francisco Giants. The agreement reportedly calls for $17,000, about a $5,000 boost for the young first sacker who was the NL's rookie of the year.

The Braves signed a pair—outfielder Wes Covington and pitcher Bob Rush.

Terrors Scare Wolverines for AML 54-43 Loss

By BEN OLAN

Associated Press Sports Writer
Auburn's basketball opponents are pulling every trick in the book to cut short the longest major winning streak in the nation. But the Tigers always seem to come up with a solution.

Tuesday night, Georgia Tech used a zone defense to thwart Auburn's fast break, but the Tigers, No. 4 in the country, won their 26th straight with a convincing 51-40 victory.

The triumph boosted Auburn's Southeastern Conference record to 6-0 and its season's mark to 25-0. It was the Tigers' lowest point total of the campaign during which they've scored 1,133 points to 374 for the opposition.

North Carolina State and West Virginia were the only other teams among the top 10 to see action Tuesday night.

Boston Freshman Looks Like Real Champion Jumper

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Two years ago, when he was 15 years of age, John Thomas had trouble clearing 6 feet in the high jump.

Today, the gangling Boston University freshman is one of the world's five 7-foot jumpers, holds the world's indoor record and very well could go up to 7-4 by the 1960 Olympics.

Young John, who stands 6-4½, still is developing. In less than a year, he has grown an inch and three-quarters. He hasn't reached his potential yet.

In his past three competitions, he has broken the world's indoor record each time. First, he made 6-11. That erased Ken Wiesner's mark of 6-10½.

Next time out, he upped his week-old standard to 6-11½. And Saturday in the Millrose Games in Madison Square Garden, he became the first high jumper in history to get over 7 feet indoors.

At the moment, Yuri Stepanov of Russia holds the outdoor world record of 7-1 (with the aid of a built-up shoe). That's certainly within reach of Thomas and, as a matter of fact, he came mighty close to clearing 7-1½ Saturday night.

"I don't want to predict anything for myself," said John, an unassuming lad. "I'm just going to keep on jumping and see what happens."

His next effort will be in the Boston AA Games this week and he'll be up against Charlie Dumas, the world's first 7-footer whom he licked in the Millrose meet, and Richard Dahl, the European champion who has cleared 6-11½.

Pole vaulter Don Bragg came close to grabbing some of the spotlight from Thomas. The big Vallanova graduate got over 15-6½, and barely missed at 15-9, which would have wiped out Dutch Warmerdam's 15-year-old world indoor record of 15-8½.

Ron Delany won his 26th straight mile race hitting the tape in 4:06.5.

IMPORTANT ITEMS HEARD BY CLARENDON COUNCIL

Proposed jointure of Mead Township and Clarendon Borough police protection, informative discussion on traffic light, a w building and fire inspector appointment and the resignation Secretary, composed a large portion of the monthly meeting Clarendon Borough Council in borough building last evening. Numerous other important items were put before Council to sat through one of their longest and busiest meetings in its some time.

Joe Montore acted as Council president in the absence of hn M. Hickey.

Chief Submits Fire Department Report To Council

Annual report from Fire Chief Leonard Falbriski was submitted to Clarendon Borough Council last evening, showing a growing and busy 1958 for the department.

At a cost of $1,417.07 following items were purchased by the department: radio mobile unit, two tires and tubes, 1949 Chevy sedan emergency truck, Scott air masks with extra cylinders, miscellaneous operating costs, etc.

"The money that we have spent, along with the purchases and maintenance, paid by Borough Council, have all helped to make our department modern, efficient and well-equipped. We wish to thank you, for your whole-hearted cooperation," Mr. Falbriski told Council in submitting his report.

Of 29 calls answered last year, 11 were in Clarendon, 16 in Mead township and 2 Civil Defense drills. Total damage in Clarendon from fires amounted to $5,000: $85 in Mead Township. The CD mutual aid runs were to Kane and Youngsville.

The excellent report also showed type of fires, trucks reporting, time consumed in answering calls, average number of men reporting and hose laid during fires.

Fire Chief Leonard Falbriski as approved by Council as wiling and fire inspector for Clarendon Borough.

Secretary Howard Thompson ended in his resignation from the post. Council accepted Mr. Thompson's resignation with regret. A job promotion has received Mr. Thompson from day shift work to nights. The position is now vacant and open to anyone capable of filling it. Applications may be made to he Council.

Fire Destroys Barn Of Lander Instructor

Fire of undetermined origin struck another barn in the Russell area last evening.

On the farm of Howard Thompson, instructor at Eisenhower high and a former Beatty High teacher, the barn was discovered ablaze around 6:30 last evening by a neighbor. The structure was a total mass of flames by time firemen arrived.

Mr. Thompson, a former Clarendon resident, said today amount of damage is uncertain but it is expected to run into several thousand dollars. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

A hay bailer, 40 head of sheep 2 heifers and 2 calves burned to death. A small quantity of hay was also lost. Nothing was saved inside the barn. A nearby chicken coop and garage were saved. Thompson's home is across the road from the 40 by 70-foot barn.

Three fire companies answered the call—10 men and Chief Richard Falconer of Lander, Russell with 25 men under Chief John Stanton, and Scott Stuart's group from Sugar Grove. Five trucks were at the scene until nearly midnight.

Lander Auxiliary served coffee and sandwiches to the firemen.

PECULIAR TIMES

Weather changes about as fast as a woman's mind. Drizzling rains last evening fell into a cold atmosphere early today, freezing on highways and later turning into a light snow fall. Slick roads were perilous to early morning drivers. A 1957-model car skidded across the highway on Riddlesburg Hill and over a six-foot embankment this morning, one mile west of Clarendon. The ground hog saw his shadow Monday and a robin was spotted in Scandia yesterday, and weather man says: "Cloudy and cold with light snow tonight, changing to snow flurries Thursday."

HAM DINNER THURSDAY

The report of ticket sales for the ham dinner was especially gratifying, and, after final computation, the chairman, Mrs. Marie Waid, and her committee, decided to expand their plans and place tickets on sale at the door, Thursday night, for those from Warren and other communities—not reached by the local solicitors. This enterprise, sponsored by the Women's Association of the North Warren Church, with the fine cooperation of the church members, is planned for any who may wish to enjoy a good home cooked meal. A fine menu of ham, creamed potatoes, corn, cabbage salad, apple sauce, coffee and milk—and special emphasis is made of the fact that, not only will they serve home made apple and cherry pies, but—"Home made bread"—baked by some of North Warren's finest culinary artists. The public is invited; the first serving beginning at five o'clock—the second at 6:30—and will be held in the Community House.

UNION ELECTION

National Labor Relations Board will conduct an election at DeLuxe Metal Thursday to determine what union, if any, will represent the employees of the company. Sheet Metal Workers of AFL-CIO has partitioned NLRB in an attempt to get their union into DeLuxe. United Electrical and Machine Workers is the current representative. A similar attempt was made by Steel Metal a year ago, which failed. The union failed to file in time. UE has been accused of having Communist infiltration.

Eisenhower made it plain, when talking of his intention to maintain a balanced budget if possible, that he will carry his light to the grass roots of the country at every opportunity.

Congressional leaders agreed, he said, that outlays must be restrained to prevent further rises in living costs.

Why then, the President demanded, does not every member who brings in a bill which would dip the country into deficit spending attach to it a clause providing the higher taxes to match?

This would be a good way to find out whether the United States does or does not want costly new programs, Eisenhower said, adding that he, for one, was sure Americans would support the balanced budget.

But he declined, when reporters raised the question, to say whether he would veto the housing bill and airport bills if they reach him in their present forms.

Eisenhower said he never promises a veto or an approval in advance—that the decision cannot be made until the bill actually arrives at the White House for study.

The President particularly objected in the housing bill, to a $75-million-dollar provision for college housing aid which compared with his 200-million-dollar recommendation, and to additional funds for veterans' loans.

Eisenhower noted he had asked for an increase in the interest rate on GI housing which, he said, would make veterans housing loans attractive to private lenders and relieve the government of staying in the lending business.

As for airports, Eisenhower insisted the administration is providing all the money necessary to improve flying safety. He said it is not interested in building lovely administration buildings and airport terminals.

The government didn't provide the railroads and business with terminals Eisenhower went on, and should not go into that field for the benefit of airlines.

Eisenhower said he had been assured by Col. Elwood Quesada, federal aviation administrator, that no failure by the federal airways safety system contributed to the crash of a big passenger plane in New York Tuesday night.

Popular Officer of Co. I in World War I Dies Suddenly

Erick S. Munson, whose name had long been associated with local veterans' affairs and sports circles, was found dead in bed at his home, 309 Onondaga avenue, at 5:25 p. m. Tuesday. He had been ill since his 77th birthday anniversary on January 6, but his condition had not been deemed serious.

Erick Sigfred Munson was born in Boholm, Sweden, January 6, 1882, coming to this country at the age of three months and spending his early years at Golvango, above Kinzua, when his father was employed by Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

LT. E. S. MUNSON—1918

After moving to Warren in 1902, he spent the years prior to World War I in carpentry and construction work, and was employed with Offerte & Smith, general contractors, working on many of Warren's better-known residences and buildings.

Mr. Munson enlisted in the Pennsylvania National Guard in 1905 and was active in military affairs, from that time through World War I, until he was medically discharged in 1921 from the effects of poison gas in war combat.

Serving as a first lieutenant with Company I, 112th Infantry, 28th Division, AEF, he participated in the following engagements in France during 1918: Hill 204, July 6-14; Chateau Thierry, July 18; Courmoulin, July 26; Vesle River, August 7-12; Death Valley, August 12-15. He also served with Company I in the Mexican Border Campaign.

During his military career, Lt. Munson was awarded various decorations, including two gold chevrons for wounds received in action, and the Croix de Guerre, with palms, conferred by the French government.

He had won many medals in marksmanship, and was a member of the U. S. Rifle Team.

In his rehabilitation period in 1928, he was instructed and worked with E. A. Phillips, former Warren architect. In this work, he designed many Warren landmarks, including veterans' plots, flag pole installations, monuments, and projects of a civic nature. In his later years, he had been hospitalized at various veterans' hospitals.

RUTH BEATY CAREY

Dr. A. C. Schultz, minister of First Methodist church, conducted funeral services here Monday afternoon for Mrs. Ruth Beaty Carey, of Buffalo, former Warren resident. Interment followed in Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. Carey, who was the widow of George C. Carey of the firm of Harvey and Carey, died January 30 in a Buffalo hospital after a long illness. At the time of her residence in Warren, she was the wife of the late Milton Beaty.

Surviving are two daughters, Anne Beaty Taggart, of Buffalo, and Susan Beaty Well, Painted Post, N. Y.; six grandchildren; also one brother, Jack Hermans, Olympia, Wash.

MARTHA B. JUDD

Funeral services will be held in Erie at 1:00 p. m. Thursday for Mrs. Martha B. Judd, 86 year old resident of that city and mother of Mrs. Fern Anderson, of Grand Valley. Interment will be made in the West Spring Creek cemetery.

Martha Robins Judd was born in Blooming Valley and died in the Erie County Infirmary, where she had been for some time. The widow of Ernest Judd, who died in 1937, she leaves three children, Mrs. Anderson, Grand Valley RD 1; Burnice Wright, Erie, and Guy Judd, Meadville; also a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Another daughter died in infancy.

MRS. ANDREA D. BOSIN

Funeral services were held in Jamestown Monday afternoon for Mrs. Andrea D. Bosin, 84 year old resident of that city and formerly of Warren. The rites were conducted by Dr. Glenn Donelson, superintendent of the EUB Erie Conference, assisted by the Rev. E. Norton Warner, pastor of Kidder Memorial church in Jamestown.

Interment was made in the Lake View cemetery, with Henry Borgstrom, Louis Lund, Chris Pepke, Louis Bosin, Hermes Ames and Harry Stone serving as bearers.

In attendance from away were relatives and friends from Warren, North Warren, Williamsburg, Dunkirk, and Sandusky, O.

Dr. Robert F. Goheen, youthful president of Princeton University, enlisted as a U. S. Army infantry private in World War II. He was awarded the Bronze Star with two clusters.

BUY U. S. SAVINGS BONDS

Mr. Munson was one of the organizers and a charter member of Dunsmoor-Schwung Post 631, Veterans of Foreign Wars, also of the recently formed Society of the 28th Division. In the past 30 years, he had served in an official capacity for military rites accorded many veterans of all wars.

Member and active in affairs of the Warren Sports Boosters Association, Mr. Munson was for years associated with all types of athletic events. He and his son, Myron, designed and built the football scoreboard at War Memorial Field and assisted with scoring as far back as the days when the game was played on Russell Field by both the Warren High Dragons and Warren Red Jackets.

His willing and cheerful support was given in many other civic undertakings, particularly the community projects and celebrations staged by the Warren Jaycees.

Preceded in death in 1955 by his wife, Hulda, he is survived by his son, Myron, and two grandchildren, at home; an older brother, Charles, of Beaver, Pa.; several nieces, nephews and other relatives, both here and in Sweden. Another brother, Axel, also preceded him in death.

A full military funeral will be accorded Mr. Munson, but details have not been arranged and will be announced later. (Jamestown, Erie, Oil City and Ridgway papers please copy)

Former Leader Of Republican Committee Dies

JESSE G. SMITH —Stokes Studio

Friends made in many circles, during practically a lifelong residence of Warren, received with sincere regret today the news that Jesse G. Smith, 405 West Third avenue, died at 9:05 a. m. in Warren General Hospital. In ill health for the past couple of years, he was admitted to the hospital about a week ago.

Born in Erie on May 5, 1888, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John H. Smith. Coming to Warren when he was about 10 years old, he spent his early years on the West Side and attended school there.

Probably most widely known for his political activities, Mr. Smith served as Warren county Republican chairman for a quarter-century, was at one time an agent in the Department of Labor and Revenue, served as inheritance tax appraiser, and was for year a referee in workmen's compensation affairs.

A varied career as a young man also included some time spent as a baseball pitcher, and quite a few years as a drummer in various local dance bands. He was a member of Warren Lodge of Elks and North Star Lodge 241, F. and A. M.

Plane

A tugboat crew heading down the river heard the crash and sped to the scene.

"We heard a terrific crash," said Everett Phelps, 48, coskipper of the tug.

"The noise seemed to come from about 800 feet away. We turned on, a searchlight and saw a plane cracking up in all directions.

"I pulled three persons out. There seemed to be bodies all around, and there were continual screams for help."

Phelps said his crew had picked up eight survivors using boat hooks for some, before the wreckage slipped away from them in the darkness.

Coast Guard boats raced to the scene and gave a tragic report of "picking up bodies everywhere."

A temporary morgue was set up at a nearby Queens point, and survivors were rushed to Flushing Hospital. Seven were in critical condition.

At the airport, a number of persons, several of them women in tears, waited in the airline lounge for word of survivors.

Among the missing was the pilot, Capt. Albert H. De Witt, of Decatur, Mich.

An official of the new Federal Aviation Agency said that "the last contact with the pilot was routine in nature."

Joseph D. Blatt, FAA regional administrator, said the plane was making a "standard instrument approach" to La Guardia from the northeast.

The last contact was made as the plane flew over a range station, 2.8 miles from the end of the runway.

"At this time, the pilot acknowledged clearance to land," Blatt said.

Normal altitude for the plane over the range station would have been 800 feet.

Blatt said the plane was coming in on one radio beam which told the pilot if he was directly in line with the runway.

The pilot did not have a second radio beam, which operates at the runway's other end and which would have indicated whether he was too low or too high in his approach.

The FAA began an immediate investigation. In Washington, the Civil Aeronautics Board said its two top investigators for New York were sent to the scene.

Another was Richard Winn, of Norwalk, Conn., director of facility planning for the airline.

As a gloomy gray dawn arrived, the grimy waters near the airport yielded up many a pitiful reminder of those who had been aboard the plane.

Found floating were a woman's shoe, a baby's glove, a package of letters, a woman's dress, a knapsack. The plane's front wheels floated near the wreckage.

The sparking new airliner was a Lockheed Electra with four turbo-prop engines, put into service only about a week ago. The planes were designed to combine jet power with the advantages of the propeller. The engines operate on the turbine principle.

The plane was groping for a runway, relying on instruments to land through fog and drizzle after a nonstop flight from Chicago.

Death

New York, the East River lay hidden by fog. It was drizzling and cold. A new, sleek American Airlines plane was using its instruments to find La Guardia Field and end a non-stop flight from Chicago.

Then, 49 minutes after the Lockheed Electra was due it arrived—2,500 to 4,000 feet short of a runway.

The four-engine, turbo-prop model plummeted into the river with such force that it shattered.

Only 9 of the 68 passengers and five crewmen have been found alive, and one of them died. At Little Rock, Air Force Maj. E. J. Kelly said the B47 cracked up and exploded in a swampy, wooded area as it approached the field for a landing.

One of the 114 passengers aboard the jet airliner which narrowly averted a crash into the Atlantic told newsmen at Gander, Nfld., "I thought my jaws and shoulders were leaving my body" as the big plane plunged toward the water.

Besides his wife, Louise Anderson, Smith, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Harry S. Rapp; two nephews and a niece, Dick and Jack Rapp and Mrs. Grace Stearns.

Arrangements for services had not been completed today and will be announced later.

Funerals

ERICK S. MUNSON—Friends will be received at the Peterson Funeral Home at the usual calling hours, starting at 7:00 p. m. Thursday. Arrangements for a military funeral have not been completed and will be announced later.

less than 24 hours after clearing in the House.

However, the House must still act on a Senate revision providing that the 10-member legislative probe group may employ three persons as technical aides.

HARRISBURG (AP)

The Legislature moved today to clean up final action on two fronts in the emergency created by the entrapment of 12 men in a flooded Luzerne County coal mine.

The Senate listed a final vote on a batch of bills to borrow three million dollars from the teachers retirement fund to finance the flood relief spending powers recently given to Gov. Lawrence.

In the House, agreement to minor Senate charges was expected on a proposal for a legislative investigation of the mine tragedy.

The Senate approved the probe Tuesday but asked that a 10-member legislative investigating committee be empowered to employ three technical advisors.

Wanna go on a tiger hunt?
That may seem a funny way to reathless Claudia Watson says

hat's the way her husband, Wid, did it. And now, just after their first wedding anniversary, they're off to the private game preserves

with 15 guests, to shoot tigers in the jungles of India.
"No, I never shot a tiger be-

South's three no-trump contract was based on a minimum 12-point opening bid by North.
West opened the jack of spades and South saw that his contract was practically hopeless. Also, there was nothing much he could do to make it but East and West got together to make it for him.
East played the seven of spades. He wasn't going to waste his queen on his partner's jack. South ducked, letting the jack hold. West continued with the ten, and this time East had to play his queen. South also allowed this to hold and East found that he was in the lead with no spades left in his hand.
He led the jack of diamonds.
South won with the ace, led a low heart and played the eight from dummy. East was in with the jack and still had no spade to lead. This gave South time to knock out the ace of clubs
also and make his contract.
How did West help declarer?
He could have led his king of spades at trick two. This would have kept him in the lead and allowed him to clear the spade suit himself while he still held the ace of clubs.

safari will have two native ser-

Maharajah's private armory."
How do you get that way at 23?
Well, young Wid has been a world traveler since birth. He is the son of William Watson of Nelson,
New Zealand, discoverer of the Belora gold mines in New Guinea and former Australian vice consul in New York. The Watson family maintains homes in Italy, Germany, Australia, New Zealand,
New Guinea and New York. At 15 Wid ran away from a private school in Pennsylvania and took off for Barbados, where he chartered a sailboat, acted as fishing guide for vacationing sportsmen
for a season, then left for South America and has been traveling ever since.
Claudia, a former teen-age TV

actress, met Wid last summer in Spain. They were married a few weeks later in a civil ceremony in New York, then flew to Paris on their honeymoon. They repeated the marriage ceremony in a favorite church in Switzerland and set out on a leisurely tour of the Alps and France.
The young Watsons plan to leave San Francisco March 15
with their party, flying to Tokyo, Hong Kong and Calcutta, where they will spend two weeks on the tiger shoot. Then they will fly to Cairo, sail across the Mediterranean to Rome for the Easter season, have a final fling at their Castle Oranmore in Ireland, then back to New York.
"My theory," said Wid, "is that any business ought to be fun.
If it isn't fun, the heck with it."

News of Hollywood

Editor's Note:
There's been a revolution in popular music since the rise of Elvis Presley. Today the teen-ager is king—chief listener, buyer, maker of stars. The switch from jazz and swing to rock 'n' roll baffles adult music leaders—but they're making more money than ever by catering to teen tastes. To report on the revolution, AP columnist Bob Thomas talked to figures at all levels of the music world.
Following is the FIRST of five columns on what he learned.
By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Among

the five best-selling records in the nation today are:
"Sixteen Candles" by the Crests.
"Stagger Lee" by Lloyd Price.
"Donna" by Ritchie Valens.
Ever hear them? The chances are no, if you are of voting age and spend little time near radios and juke boxes. But if you're a teen-ager, you doubtless dig these discs the most.
This is offered as evidence of how the folkways of America have changed. There was a time when a song hit was on everyone's lips. The young and the old would be singing "Yes, We Have No
Bananas" or "Who's Afraid of the Big, Bad Wolf" or "Praise The

Lord and Pass the Ammunition."
That situation no longer exists.
The popular music field is now dominated — some say Monopolized — by a single age group, the teenagers.
"It's the craziest market I've ever seen," says Glenn Wallichs, founder and headman of Capitol Records.
"The kids are running the show," adds Randy Wood, who built Dot records into an industry.
A whole new crop of performers and song writers has taken over. It is virtually impossible for the veteran pop singers — the Frankie Laines, Dinah Shores, Jo
Staffords — to get a hit record.
Typical of the new stars is lean,
tousle-haired Jimmy Rodgers, a Washington State boy who lived on candy bars and soft drinks in New York City while trying to break in as a singer. Then he recorded "Honeycomb," a million seller. Now Jimmy's earning $200,000 a year.

"It's tough for any girl singer
these days," says Wood, mentor of Pat Boone's career. "Teen-age girls buy most of the single records and they seem to want a secret love affair with their favorite singer. Because of this, the publicity about Pat's family life has hurt his single sales, though he's getting a broader audience all the time."
Likewise, the longtime writers of great American songs scarcely get a look-in on the current pop market. The tunes of Irving Berlin, Cole Porter and Richard Rodgers are neglected for such members as "Whole Lotta Lovin'" and "I Got Stung."

Whence came this power of teenagers to impose their musical tastes on the entire population?
Says a psychologist: "Every generation has the urge to discover and enshrine its own heroes and entertainments. This is especially true of today's teen-agers, who were born into and reared in the wartime era of lax family controls. They are seeking a break with the past."
